PV's to Continue Fight for Housing

Denied permission to construct a senior citizens' housing unit at 1156 Santa Cruz avenue, the Peninsula Volunteers this week said they were "encouraged" by evidence of community interest, and will continue their efforts to secure proper housing for the aged.

In the wake of a Monday night hearing before the Menlo Park planning commission, at which a standing-room-only crowd of 200 heard planners unanimously reject rezoning of the one-acre plot, they reported they were "convinced of the necessity" for such developments.

And bolstering the campaign was City Planner Richard Gamble, who later in the evening reported that he is studying a possible "combining" zone which would allow facilities for senior citizens, including such units as special housing, geriatrics clinics, rest and nursing homes and other uses.

"We are most gratified with the interest and cooperation shown by the Menlo Park planning commisison and by the entire community in the problems of supplying adequate retirement housing for the senior citizens of Menlo Park," Mrs. George Keller, president of the PVs said in a statement following the Monday meeting.

"The Peninsula Volunteers are naturally disappointed to be turned down on their request for rezoning of an acre of land at 1156 Santa Cruz avenue; however, they are not discouraged.

"Due to the great need for this type of housing and the tremendous encouragement they have received from the area at large, the Peninsula Volunteers now, more than ever, are convinced of the necessity of continuing with their plans in this important field."

STATEMENTS

The planners, in statements before casting their votes against the rezoning, agreed that the project was a worthy one. However, they agreed, rezoning of a single lot in the city's "residential estate" zone could be interpreted as a threat to the zoning integrity of the entire city.

Only four voting members of the commission — barely a quorum of the commission membership of seven — was present for the one and a half hour debate and the vote which followed.

The hearing opened with Gamble reporting that 12 letters had been received favoring the rezoning, while 16 letters opposing it were in hand. A petition signed by 150 residents of the area, all opposing the rezoning, was read.

Before considering the PV's request, Commission Chairman Charles Anderson noted that two other area property owners had requested rezoning. Both of them, G. K. Manning of 1100 San Mateo drive, and Dr. R. M .Hermes of 1200 San Mateo drive, agreed that they would withdraw their requests for rezoning, if the PV's request was denied.

For the PV's, President Mrs. Keller pointed out that Little House, the organization's major project for welfare of the aged, had won national recognition for Menlo Park.

The problem of providing housing for the aged would also have to be met, she said, adding that Menlo Park could set the standard in this also.

PROBLEM TO GROW

By 1970, due to earlier retirement and longer life expectancy of the average individual there will be 20,000,000 retired individuals in the United States," she pointed out.

"Proper housing for them does not exist . . . they need housing within walking distance of shops, churches and other community facilities, so they can continue as contributing members of society."

The PV's have been seeking such a site for the past two years and the property at 1156 Santa Cruz avenue appeared "ideal" for the use, she said.

She added that plans had been drawn up, which would allow 40 dwelling units, housing a total of 56 individuals in one and two-person studio apartments. Each would have a carport, she said, adding that the development would cover about 32 per cent of the ground area.

Manning said he wanted his request considered only if the PV's was passed.

Dr. Hermes said he felt the idea of low-cost housing was inappropriate to the area, that neighbors of the age group in such a development would probably not find it attractive to live next door to a residential estate type home, with its noise and children.

"I am about to ask for rezoning because I will have people next door who can't take care of themselves, and whose families don't want them," he stated.

Rear Admiral Ransom K. Davis, USN (ret.), 1140 San Mateo drive, then took the floor as head of the informal

Master Plan on Agenda

Proposed master plan for the Town of Woodside this week advanced from the planning commission to the town council with a recommendation for approval.

At their regular meeting tonight, the councilmen are scheduled to name a date for public hearing on the plan.

Last week Woodside planners made revisions in a series of primary road proposals. They remained firm in their recommendation for a three-acre lot minimum in the hill areas.

Other council business is concerned with the problem of trucking, and truck routes. Redwood Materials Co., of Redwood City has appealed a routine denial of their request for a permit to exceed the present three-ton limitation for through traffic.

At the same time, the council is scheduled to consider a proposal made by the cities of Redwood City, San Carlos and Woodside for one through truck route. Canada road was suggested as the possible truck route within the Woodside area.

Other agenda items: second readings of the business license ordinance; a request for a sign permit and routine building permits.

Baptists Plan To Organize In January

Atherton Baptist Fellowship will be formally organized as a church on the first Sunday of 1959, it was announced this week.

Sponsors of the Fellowship also have appointed a nominating committee to select a slate of prospective officers to govern the new church, it was reported. The latter consists of Mrs. Vernon Ogren, Miss Doris Moberg, Carl Stoscher and the Rev. Robert Wheaton, pastor for the Fellowship.

The Fellowship group has been meeting informally for the past three months, with church school and Sunday morning worship services being conducted at Encinal school in Atherton.

The proposed church also includes in its organization a young adult group, which has been meeting Sunday evenings at the home of the pastor at 1151 Sherman avenue. A young peoples' group, which meets at the Everett Carlson home in Atherton, also has been organized.

St. Anthony's Opens New Edifice

First services will be held in the new building of St.Anthony's church, at 3500 Middlefield road, North Fair Oaks, Menlo Park, this Sunday, followed by a week of special missionary programs.

The Rev. Jeremiah Gleeson, pastor, announced that regular mass schedule would start Sunday with services at 7:30 a.m., 9 a.m., 10:30 a.m. and 12:15 p.m.

Starting Sunday evening, services for the first week will be held each day at 8 p.m. Special missionary masses, also starting Sunday and continuing daily throughout the week will be at 7 and 8 a.m.

Church and rectory, both completed, had a construction cost of $214,000.

For March 10:

Ravenswood Trustees Slate Bond, Tax Hike Election

Months of study of the building needs and financial ability of the Ravenswood Elementary School District were culminated Monday night when the board of trustees set the date of March 10 for an election on an 84-cent tax increase and a $300,000 building bond issue.

At the same time, trustees authorized Superintendent Stanley O. Schnepple to apply for funds from both the state aid program (chapter 19) and from the federal House and Home Finance agency.

Studies by both a Citizens' Committee and the trustees have shown that operating costs of the district could not continue to be paid out of the present permissive tax rate of $2.40 per $100 assessed valuation. The new rate of $3.24 per $100 assessed valuation is seen as meeting costs of maintenance and salaries for the next five years. However, in order to avoid any possible future complications, trustees Monday night voted to ask the increase for "an indefinite period of time."

Decision on the amount of a building bond hinged Monday night on the ability of the Ravenswood district to qualify for state aid for needed building construction.

Schneppie reported that discussions between himself and Dr. Rolph Lee of the state division of school house planning had indicated that the district would qualify for funds for either 18 classrooms or 58,000 square feet of building space by bringing up total bonded indebtedness of the district to within 95 per cent of its capacity.

The $300,000 bond, if approved next March, will keep the district within the qualified percentage figure for the next two years.

It was pointed out that the local district could only sell bonds in an amount legally possible at the time of sale. Approval of the bond issue does not necessarily mean the same thing as selling the bonds, trustees noted.

Workings of the state program for funds under chapter 19 were explained in detail to the board by Robert Vierra, of the California state department, division of finance. Vierra advised that the district should start immediately to qualify for funds.

In reply to a battery of questions on "state control" and "increased costs" by going into the state finance program, Vierra pointed out that requirements of both the state division of architecture and the state division of schoolhouse planning would have to be met regardless of whether or not the district sought state funds.

After authorizing Schnepple to start with necessary paperwork, the board then approved a plan for securing an interim, interest free fund from the federal HHFA for use in payment for preparation of plans. Monies used would be repaid from the state aid program once the district qualifies.

Plans to be prepared under this proposal included six class rooms for Menlo Oaks, a kindergarten at Willow School, a complete intermediate (seventh and eighth grade) school at Brentwood.

The board will meet again next Monday to discuss with architect William Keller the recommendation of Dr. Lee that the district add a kindergarten room to a planned addition at Belle Haven school. Preliminary sketches call for a building 48 by 52 feet, or larger.

Police District Gets Nod From County

Formation of a special police district for the East Palo Alto area was completed by the county board of Supervisors Tuesday afternoon with the establishment of new territorial boundaries withdrawing underwater areas included within the original proposal.

Although the new district will be less than one-half the size of that originally outlined, the change reduces the total assessed valuation by only $200,000, according to County Manager E. Robert Stallings.

The manager estimates that this reduction from the original valuation totalling $15,000,000 will mean an increase of only one-thirtieth in the tax rate necessary to meet costs of the special patrol. Such a change would mean only an increase of 1.5 cents on a rate of 50 cents per $100 assesed valuation, he explained.

Request of the City of Palo Alto for exclusion of 819 acres of city owned lands received only partial approval from the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors. The total parcel is the one for which Palo Alto has started annexation proceedings — opening a cross-county boundary dispute destined for court battle.

Supervisors agreed to exclude Palo Alto owned lands southeast of the realigned San Francisquito creek, including the airport and yacht harbor, on the basis that taxes collected from that particular parcel would not meet costs of extending the patrol to the area. Approximately 60 per cent of Palo Alto land was taken out of the district by the action.

Underwater lands belonging to Ideal Cement Co., Leslie Salt Co., and the City and County of San Francisco were withdrawn from the district at the request of landowners.

The board voted to deny the request for withdrawal filed by Hiller Helicopter Co., which is in the midst of the district.

Apartment 'Bonus' Idea Nixed

Las Lomitas District Near Bond Issue, Tax Balloting

Voters of the Las Lomitas School District will go to the polls next Tuesday, Dec. 16, to vote on three proposals to provide classrooms and teachers for an expected enrollment increase of 200 pupils per year over the next three years.

The three proposals are:

1. Authorizing the district to issue up to $600,000 in new bonds for new school construction.

2. Authorize the district to accept up to $1,750,000 in state aid funds.

3. Increase the maximum limit of the tax rate from $2.40 to $3.40 to meet current and future operating costs over the three-year period.

The three measures were proposed by the board of trustees of the district to meet a critical need for classes for an expected "tidal wave" of new enrollments. Increasing the tax rate by $1 is necessary to permit the hiring of new teachers, grant salary increases to those presently employed and reestablish a seriously depleted reserve fund.

The permissive tax increase was proposed to help alleviate the already crowded conditions existing in the district. At present, 20 classes are now on double session, including six kindergarten classes on triple session.

The three proposals have been strongly urged by the trustees and the district's election committee.

Pamphlets and informational literature distributed throughout the district point up the need for the increased financing because of the expected growth still to come within the district.

VACANT LAND

Seventy-five per cent of the land area enclosed within the district is yet undeveloped, surveys indicate. With new homes already being sold in the new Sharon subdivision and home development on Stanford lands expected to get underway in the fall of 1959, projections indicate enrollment will again double in the area by 1960. Presently, 1181 are attending, representing a doubling of enrollment from 596 in 1950.

The election — trustees and proponents argue— is vital to the future of the area. Should all three proposals fail to pass, the consequences would be as follows: there would be a drastic limitation on the educational program; no new teachers would be hired; new schools would not be opened for the expected influx of students; special services now offered would have to be curtailed; transportation would be reduced to a minimum; salary increases would be eliminated, all building maintenance would be eliminated.

A two-thirds approval of the $600,000 bond issue will mean that the district becomes eligible for an additional $1,750,000 in state aid funds to aid school plant needs in new districts.

This money will insure the district additional funds to meet space needs as they arise without going through another critical cycle of overcrowding and the prospect of having to increase permissive taxes in order to finance what would merely be stop-gap measures.

Approval of the increased state aid authorization will not result in any tax increase for the voter because of the tax dollar limit on state loan repayments. This legislation permits a district with low assessed valuation and high enrollment to provide classrooms and school plants during early development and projects the repayments so that community growth can proceed on an orderly basis.

During the period of the existing program, proponents point out, the combined effect of the bonds and state aid will not increase the tax bill for school construction and may well reduce it.

The board of trustees has announced its intentions to carefully program its bond redemption schedule so that the combination of state aid and bonds will not result in any increase in taxes for construction over the next three years. The bonds will be sold over this period at a rate of approximately $200,000 per year.

The board's three-year program includes:

1. Completion, in a three-phase, three-year program, of the school plant at the newly-acquired La Entrada site at the cost estimated at $1,100,000.

2. Acquisition of a fourth site and construction of another school.

The fourth school would be financed by the remaining $650,000 in state aid before the end of the three-year period.

The La Entrada site on Altschul avenue was purchased for $111,612.70 financed by the 1955 bond election.

Completed plans for the first six classrooms have already been purchased and construction can proceed immediately

Councilmen Praise Park Nursery Idea

Members of the Menlo Park city council Tuesday night expressed unanimous approval of a proposal of the Menlo-Atherthe Co-operative Nursery School for a building on land in Nealon Park, but withheld formal approval until detail site plans are presented.

The proposal, which carries a recommendation from the city recreation commission, would provide a nursery school facility, with its own office, storage spaces and kitchen — with use of the space being made available for other youth groups after the school hours.

The commission also recommended that the city provide additional space in the proposed building for a full time recreation supervisor at the park, and public restroom facilities—both seen as development needs for the park.

City Manager John R. Johnson explained that the nursery school proposed to locate the building just north of the tennis courts, a spot which would be removed far enough from Morey drive to overcome residential objection and close enough to Middle drive for parking convenience.

Architect C. Neal Lindstrom is currently at work on a site and elevation plan for the Nursery school group, Johnson said. He estimated that the large nursery room would contain 1200 square feet and that the overall building would be 48 by 52 feet, or larger.

As approved by the recreation commision, the proposed building would be operated under an arangement similar to that now in operation with the Peninsula Volunteers.

Councilman Michael Belangie pointed out that use of the building by Scouts and other youth groups after nursery school hours, would help solve a problem of recreational facilities long recognized. He pointed out that there are "some 65 groups asking the city for space for meetings."

Protested Councilman Guy Plaisted, "We know that from a survey taken four years ago, but we had to go out and ask what was needed. It doesn't seem that the citizens see much interest in it."

BOOSTERS

To which Councilman Ira Bonde replied, "If you want 50 to 100 people to come up here and tell you they want it, I don't think they'll be any trouble." Bonde said he had followed the nursery school development plans closely, and predicted that the group would go out and successfully launch a fund campaign.

"They're not asking the city to contribute one cent," he added.

Possibility that the city should share costs, in return for use of the facilities for youth groups was raised by Councilman Belangie. Other councilmen noted that the city would surely have to pay for construction of the recreational office and restroom facilities.

Mayor William Lawson called the idea "fine," but called for caution until the council sees the preliminary sketch and details of the location.

The city manager has indicated that these plans will be ready for council consideration in a study session in the near future.

Choosy Citizens Thwart City Economy

Time was, City Manager John Johnson recalled this week, when the city's street department crews were theoretically more economy-minded than they are nowadays.

The workers used to cut down dead and unwanted trees in various parts of the city, saw them up into four-foot lengths of wood, and pack them off to the dump.

Early this year open burning at dumps was banned; the street department's crews continued to saw down trees into four-foot lengths, and tried to give the wood away. There were never any takers, so workers had to load it up and try to dispose of it elsewhere.

Nowadays, Johnson says, the street department's workers cut discarded trees into "fireplace" lengths, and leave the wood near where the tree used to be.

The wood always magically disappears.

Fire District Gets New Pumper

Menlo Park Fire District took delivery of its new 1000-gallon-per-minute pumping engine Tuesday, as the rig was delivered from the Seagraves company in Columbus, Ohio.

The $20,000 unit will be put into service in about two weeks, after a series of tests and the installation of special equipment to bring it up to full operating efficiency, according to District Chief George Carter.

The engine has not yet been assigned to a station, Chief Carter said.

RE-APPOINTED

New Subscribers Now Number 622

Total of new subscribers to the Menlo Park Recorder passed the 600 mark this week.

As of noon yesterday, 622 Menlo Park area residents had joined the Recorder family since the local NEWSpaper launched its subscription drive three and a half weeks ago.

Beginning with the issue of November 6, Recorder carrier boys have been delivering the newspaper to every home on their routes, introducing it to many residents who previously had been familiar only with the Buy Word, a shopping guide publication which contains many of the same advertisements as the Recorder, but very little of the local news.

Starting a week later, members of the office staff began contacting those who had not already subscribed to the paper.

"The response has been most gratifying," commented publisher C. A. "Cab" Burley this week. "So many have told us that they were surprised and delighted at the extra local news coverage the Recorder brings them, so much they never find anywhere else."

You, too, can put your name on the Recorder subscription list, to get all the news of your home area every week, for only $3 a year. Phone DA 6-5580 now, and your subscription will carry you through all of 1959.

Saturday:

BIKES SOLD

All 39 bicycles offered for sale by the Menlo Park police department last Saturday were sold, bringing in a total of $394.60, police reported this week.

Auctioneer Inspector Howard Schroeder pointed out that the total indicates the standard price was kept at about $10 a bike. But, he noted, many of the vehicles were pretty vestigial, consisting of frames with some parts missing.

He said that about 200 turned out for the sale. Most of those bidding were adults.

Card Rooms Draw Fire Of Residents

Menlo Park city council Tuesday night asked for an investigation of an application for a card room at 1218 Willow road, across from Foodland Market, following receipt of a letter of protest from the Belle Haven Improvement Club.

The letter, signed by President Joseph Jackson, pointed out that the club was not opposed to business but only to "unnecessary business establishments." Referring to "degrading" of the Willow road area by present card rooms, the letter protested specifically the application filed by Cleveland Green for a card room at 1218 Willow road.

Merchants To Ballot on 'Facelifting'

Merchants of the Menlo Park downtown area Tuesday received informal ballots on which to mark their opinions of a proposed revision of parking markers and traffic circulation in the downtown business area.

The plan, designed by City Planner Dick Gamble, would result in diagonal parking along Santa Cruz avenue from University drive to Merrill street and would result in the addition of 89 parking spaces in the downtown area.

Unveiled two weeks ago, it would result in reduction of traffic on Santa Cruz from four lanes to two, and would necessitate making Menlo avenue a one-way eastbound street and Oak Grove a one-way westbound street.

Chamber of Commerce Secretary-Manager Jack Flynn is expected to have ballots back within the next few days. The ballots were distributed at a meeting of the group.

Downtown Stores Set Night Hours

More than 25 downtown Menlo Park stores have indicated they will remain open every night until Christmas, and additional stores are expected to join them next week to remain open evenings beginning Dec. 18.

The stores which are open will remain in operation until 9 p.m. each weekday night.

Purpose of the special hours, according to Menlo Park Recorder Advertising Manager Bill Neylan, is to facilitate Christmas shopping by commuters, children in school, and others who find it inconvenient to shop during the day.

SEEK PERMISSION TO ISSUE CITATIONS

Menlo Park Fire District commissioners this week passed a resolution seeking permission to issue citations for violations of district ordinances. Heretofore, the district has had to seek such citations through the district attorney's office.

NOW FORMALIZED

Final architectural control approval of plans for the new St. Raymond's church, now under construction at Santa Cruz avenue and Arbor road, as given by the Menlo Park planning commission Monday night.

Mayor Leads Fight

Menlo Park planning commissioners Monday night took their plans for "bonuses" in additional dwelling units in large integrated developments back out of public view, for further consideration.

They did so after Mayor William R. Lawson complained that a sliding scale which would allow more apartment units on bigger lots wouldn't really encourage "integrated" developments; it would just increase population density.

As a result, plans for new apartments facing the 900 block of Middle avenue and 1020 Florence lane had to be held in abeyance.

The mayor's complaints came after City Planner Richard Gamble produced a graph which he said he thought should be used to govern large developments.

A single apartment house lot would be allowed four dwelling units, he said; four lots developed together would be allowed 20 dwelling units and, if two acres were developed together, a total of 86 apartments could be allowed, where under present zoning the limit is held to 49.

Gamble said he had not yet studied ground coverage limitations which could be adopted, or sideyard setback requirements.

He said he felt the bonus idea was a good one because an integrated development can provide more communal facilities without additional cost to tenants.

Lawson contended that the proposal wouldn't provide an incentive to build more attractive units.

"If you tell two property owners that they're going to get more units on their land if they get together, they'll do it," he noted.

"This puts us on dangerous ground. We'd be compromising our zoning standards."

Bikes, Kitten Get Home Via Want Ads

Three bikes and a kitten were home with their rightful owners this week because of the Want Ads.

Advertising in the "Lost" column last Thursday, an East Palo Alto family offered a reward "for information leading to the apprehension of thieves and for the return of three bikes stolen the night of Nov. 27th."

Three separate telephone messages received in response to the advertisement led to recovery of all three bicycles, found in widely scattered locations.

In the same issue of the Want Ads, the "Found" column listed a "kitten, grey, black, white, yellow collars." The kitten is now purrily home again.

That's the kind of fast, sure action mid-Peninsula residents are learning to expect from the combined Want Ad section of the Menlo Park Recorder, Ravenswood Post and Mid-Peninsula Buy Word.

Today, once again, phones throughout Menlo Park, Atherton, Woodside and East Palo Alto are starting to ring as the "Mighty Midget" Want Ads go to work, finding buyers for unwanted items, helping others to find work or help.

You, too, can send your message into more than 19,000 homes in the area, all right nearby for fast action. A Want Ad costs only 50 cents a line (minimum $1).

Just phone DA 6-5580 before 11 a.m. Tuesday to place your ad in all three Thursday publications. An experienced ad-taker will be glad to help you plan your message.

HEARING IS SET

City planners this week set Jan. 5 as date for hearing on a proposal to rezone the westerly side of Willow place, in the Linfield Oaks area, from its present "C-1" classification to an apartment house area.

Students Here Take Top Grants In Heart Association Program

Menlo-Atherton High School captured top honors in the San Mateo County Heart Association's 1958-59 student research training grant program, with eight students receiving over $350 in financial assistance. The awards were made at dinner ceremonies last week at the Villa Chartier, San Mateo.

Hillsdale, Pescadero, Sequoia, South San Francisco and Westmoor High School students also earned awards. Individual grants ranged from $9.65 to $93; honorable mention was given to four students; of the 15 money grants, six were awarded to girls. Total grants were $800.

In presenting the award certificates, Dr. Leo S. Bell, president of the San Mateo County Heart Association, said that "the research projects of our students show remarkable evidence of imagination and vigor, far above the normal interest level of only a generation ago.

"Some of these projects are pure research, so sorely needed in our national arsenal of scientific resources. Of course, we must view this program in high school perspective, and realize that these students have just started their careers as research scientists."

According to Dr. Marvin L. Auerback, San Mateo, chairman of the student research committee, the grants are designed to provide high school students studying biological or physical sciences with an opportunity to develop research skills.

While scholastic and intellectual achievement were important criteria in selection, research potential was actually more important than grade average, Dr. Auerback said. The amount of the grant was determined on the basis of need for equipment and supplies.

Jerry Anderson of Menlo-Atherton was awarded $93, the largest financial grant in the heart program, for his project on the inhibition of the bacteriocidal effect of human blood serum by penicillin. Anderson, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald C. Anderson, 177 Tuscaloosa avenue, Atherton, is a senior.

Idea for Anderson's project came during the summer when he worked in the bacteriology department of Stanford University. He tested a strain of Escherica Coli for sensitivity to human serum and to penicillin G potassium. As a result, he wanted to continue in this research area.

His faculty supervisor at Menlo-Atherton is Mrs. Mary Ann McLanathan.

Other award winners from Menlo-Atherton High School: Margaret Crapuchettes, Atherton, $9, for experimentation in radiation-caused mutations in Drosophilia Melanogaster; Anna Eagle, Menlo Park, $81, to test the effects of various substances on zygotes and gametes of mice.

Blake T. Franklin, Menlo Park, $9, for the study of conditioned responses in earthworms; Grant R. Giske, Menlo Park, $35 to study theories on radiation and genetics by irradiation of Drosophila.

Also Nadine Graves, Menlo Park, $14, testing for sensitivity to various physical factors on sectioned planaria; Mark H. Healy, Menlo Park, $79, for the effects of different environmental temperatures on the metabolism, respiration, irritability, and rate of reproduction of white rats; and Thomas D. Holt, Atherton, $31, to study the metabolism of mice under abnormal conditions. Gerry Abramson and Mike Fallon received honorable mention.

CURRICULUM PANEL MEETS TONIGHT

Members of the Menlo Park PTA Curriculum Advisory committee are to meet at 8 p.m. tonight at the board room, Central school.

All parents interested in discussion of the district's circriculum and its possible future modifications are invited to attend.

John Thompson Succumbs to Brief Illness

Services were held on Friday for John Thompson, 50, of 324 Oak court, chief inspector for the San Mateo County Health Department.

Thompson succumbed Monday in a South San Francisco hospital following a brief illness.

He is survived by his widow, Julia, and a daughter, Judie. Rolfer and Hapgood Mortuary, Palo Alto, were in charge of arrangements. Interment followed at Golden Gate National Cemetery.

Lockheed Gets Use Permit Here

Menlo Park planning commissioners Monday night granted permission to the Lockheed Aircraft Co. to use the American Insurance Co. building at 333 Middlefield road for administrative, clerical and engineering purposes for the next eight months.

The firm was granted a use permit for the structure after a representative told planners that additional offstreet parking, at Middlefield road and Linfield drive, will be used to supplement that on the grounds.

They authorized the city staff to oversee development of ingress and egress, with an eye to traffic safety.

New Executive Joins Jobbins

Charles W. Jobbins, president of Jobbins Electronics, 771 Hamilton avenue, Menlo Park, California, this week announced the promotion of Eric L. Peterson to the position of production manager.

Peterson, a graduate in business administration from Harvard University, was formerly president of Western Coil Products Company, recently acquired by Jobbins Electronics. In his new position, Peterson will be responsible for production of all products for the combined companies.

TEA AT ENCINAL

Women of the Encinal school PTA who work in the school library under director Mrs. Joseph Beck last week tendered a tea for sixth and seventh grade girls who act as junior librarians.

ROBERT D. HILL

Robert D. Hill Joins the Navy

Robert David Hill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Myron D. Hill Jr. of 197 Glenwood avenue in Atherton, has enlisted for a minority cruise in the U.S. Navy, it was announced last week by Boatswain's Mate First Class Alex Nocon, of the county recruiting station at the old courthouse, Redwood City.

Hill, the recruiter reported, will serve for three years and six months, at which time he will be 21 and eligible either for re-enlistment in the regular navy, or for discharge from the service.

He is presently taking recruit training at the naval recruit station in San Diego, after which he will be given 14 days' recruit leave and then be assigned to a unit of the fleet, or to a service school for special advanced training.

Air Force Seeks Cadet Aspirants

San Mateo county air force recruiting office has been authorized to accept an unlimited number of aviation cadet, pilot and navigator applications, it was announced this week by Master Sergeant F. M. Mellera, in charge of the county recruiting substation in San Mateo.

Applicants should be between 19 and 26½ years old, single, high school graduates, and of good moral character. They must also be able to pass written and physical examinations.

Four Are Hurt As Autos Hit

Four people suffered minor injuries Friday afternoon in a "rear ender" collision on El Camino Real at Maple avenue in Atherton.

The mishap occurred, police said, when an auto driven by Richard W. Langley, 25, of Redwood City, crashed into the rear of a vehicle driven by Leonard G. Feyen, 71, who was preparing to make a left turn onto Maple from the highway's southbound lanes.

Both drivers were injured, although Langley refused treatment and was taken home.

Feyen, his wife, 69, and a passenger, Gladys E. Robertson, 65, were treated for assorted whiplash injuries and bruises, and dismissed from Palo Alto Hospital after treatment.

Menlo Park Fire District firemen were called to extinguish an electrical fire in the Langley car.

Yule Project Opens at Encinal

Encinal school's annual project of providing Christmas toys for underprivileged pupils at a school in Russell city, near Hayward, got underway this week with distribution of names of beneficiaries.

The gifts will be delivered next Wednesday.

Under the usual plan, each Encinal school pupil "adopts" a counterpart across the bay; they buy a gift and wrap it for an east bay youngster.

Student Body president David Hopkins is in charge; Mrs. G. H. Putt heads the PTA committee which will provide transportation.

CHOIR TO SING

The A Cappella choir of the Menlo-Atherton High School will give a Christmas concert in the Fellowship Hall of the Menlo Park Presbyterian Church scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. Sunday evening, Dec. 14.

if the bond measures pass. These classrooms would be ready by September 1959. Additional classrooms will be added at La Entrada as enrollment grows. Initially, this school is expected to take care of children in grades one through six.

The fourth school will be built as the district becomes eligible for space under the state aid program. This fourth school will provide elementary facilities to take care of the influx expected in the development of Sharon estate and Stanford lands.

Failure to pass the bonds will mean that construction will not proceed on La Entrada. Since the two bond measures go hand in hand, defeat of any one would mean the halting of all school construction, a citizens committee spokesman said.

Failure of all three measures, the trustees warn, will result in drastic limitations on operating costs while providing no relief for an imminent overflow of new students.

The permissive tax increase compared to the current year is expected to be approximately 60 cents the first year, 67 cents the second, and 82 cents in the third year.

Math Seminar For Faculties Held at M-A

Menlo-Atherton High School was host to a mathematics faculty seminar for the Sequoia Union High School District last week. The seminar was held to discuss present trends in mathematics education and what curriculum changes should be made in the Sequoia District.

One topic of major importance was college preparation for the 65 per cent of students in the district who will be continuing their education.

Other topics mentioned included: making mathematics more applicable to industry, and teaching the boolean binary system of algebra currently used in I.B.M. machinery.

Some of the new trends in education including the teaching of sets and logic, statistics, topology (changing form without changing matter), plane and solid geometry, non-Euclidean geometry, and the analytical approach to geometry.

According to Miss Laura Henry, chairman of the mathematics department at Menlo-Atherton, another seminar will be held in January.

BUYS TRACTOR

The Ravenswood Elementary School District plans to buy a new tractor, replacing outworn equipment, according to board action last week. Estimated cost is $1650.

Debate Preceding Planners' Rejecting Home for Aged

committee which had opposed the rezoning.

PRAISES PROJECT

He lauded the intention of the project but added he felt the PV's were in no different position than any other purchaser; that it was, besides idealistically, a request for spot zoning.

In answer to a previous PV statement that the property was the only large parcel available at the price they could pay he asked, "Are they looking for charity or do they want to pay their going cost?"

A statement that he's heard the PV's had been given $50,000 to aid their project was later denied by Mrs. Keller. No such funds for any building project have ever been granted, she said.

David Botsford, 1105 San Mateo drive, who seconded Davis' remarks; Edward Brown, 1170 San Mateo drive, who said he "couldn't conceive" the city changing its zoning in such a manner; General J .C. McQueen, USMC (ret.), 1140 Arbor road, who said he was "dumbfounded" and that in his opinion it was a "glorified motor court" and "incredible."

He said the PV project was laudable, but that it should be in another place.

Harold Cross, 930 San Mateo drive, agreed that the project was a meritorious one which would reflect credit on the community but that it should be located elsewhere.

"The Peninsula Volunteers are a service organization and I know of no service organization which would go ahead with a project in the face of such opposition," Cross observed. "However, I think the interest shown on both sides indicates people consider it a worthy project and that the people of Menlo Park can be expected to back the project in another location."

'CITY PROJECT'

Davis returned to the discussion to observe that he felt it could be a "city project." He also read from the city's zoning ordinance, in which purpose of the latter was spelled out as meaning "preservation of the residential character of the community."

This residential character has brought thousands of dollars in investments to Menlo Park, he said, adding that he felt "a great deal" would be lost if the integrity of the zoning were violated.

Mrs. Richard Cutter of the Peninsula Volunteers said she felt that zoning change in the 1100 block of Santa Cruz avenue were inevitable; that this was one reason the PV's felt their action was called for.

George Weber, 1262 Santa Cruz avenue, a member of Little House and the housing subcommittee of the Governor's committee on Aging, said the protests were "fallacious," that such a development would be an aid to the business community, and that it would be designed for "moderate," not "low" income people.

Fifty per cent of the patrons of Little House can't get to it as often as they would like to because there is no housing available within easy traveling distance, he said.

Planning commissioners then opened their discussion.

George Cleese said the board couldn't interpret between the worthiness of ideals and that the board was being asked to put two incompatible zones together.

Commissioner Joseph Perry observed that he felt everybody in the room favored the idea of the project, though a satisfactory location had to be found.

Commissioner Art Stadler said he felt that the evidence of public interest was such that he thought the community should aid the PV's, but added that planners had to consider the feelings "within the zone of interest" in reaching their decision.

Chairman Anderson characterized it as a "classic example of a good improvement versus zoning integrity" and said it would result in doubt of the city's zoning integrity throughout the city.

"We all have an obligation to continue work for housing for the elderly," he said. "This is not a finished issue."

Presbyterians Set Program

Members of the junior, junior high and high school departments of the Sunday school at the Menlo Park Presbyterian Church on Sunday afternoon will present a Christmas pageant as their part of the "Christmas is for the World" program.

The affair is to start at 4 p.m. at the church sanctuary, and will be incorporated in the usual weekly Evensong service.

Following the service, all three departments will hold "open house" in the Fellowship hall of the church.

Tree Removal

Street department crews have been busy for the past several weeks removing trees from along various streets in Menlo Park.

Most of them are being removed, according to City Manager John Johnson, because their roots are interfering with utility mains or raising sidewalks and curbs.

He said that many of the trees were planted in curb spaces which range in size down to 18 inches.

Ravenswood Scene of Reception

Fourth annual reception for the 750 members of the Sequoia High School District staff and their husbands or wives has been set for Dec. 17 at the Ravenswood High School multi-use room, it was announced this week by Dr. Rex Turner, district superintendent and chairman of the committee which organized the fete.

Decorations and music appropriate to the season will be featured; "getting acquainted" will be the business of the evening, Dr. Turner said.

Previous receptions have been held at Menlo-Atherton, Carlmont and Sequoia high schools.

Plans for the affair were made at a meeting of trustees, the superintendent, the assistant superintendent, the five day school principals of the district and the two night school principals, and their wives, at the Turner home at 1005 Atkinson lane in Menlo Park.

Pack 102 Gets 10 New Members

Ten boys were inducted as new members of Cub Scout Pack 102, when the unit met recently for a regular monthly meeting at St. Joseph's School gym in Atherton.

The new Bobcats are Jim Beal, Darby Fuerst, Rory Fuerst, Mike O'Donoghue, Jan Orazem, Terry Rapoza, Peter Savage, Michael Reynolds, Jim Sciaroni and Andy Jurian.

Last month's activities were highlighted by a tour of the Navys' Treasure Island base. Forty-six Cubs were accompanied by 15 Cub dads. The trip included a visit of the various Navy instalations, including inspection of a destroyer.

The trip was climaxed by a swim in the large indoor pool followed by a lunch in the Navy mess hall.

Pedestrian, Car Collide Here

Harold Lunt, 54-year-old resident at 457 Glenwood avenue, was taken to Palo Alto Hospital for treatment of a broken right leg Monday night, after coming into contact with a car while walking across El Camino at Santa Cruz avenue.

Police said the driver of the car, Steven M. Fox, 20, of 73 15th avenue, said he was not aware of the accident until he heard a "thump," stopped, looked back and saw Lunt lying in the street.

Lunt, who was hit at 10:09 p.m., said he did not recollect anything, other than that he was approaching the easterly curb in the crosswalk when things went black.

MENLO PARK MAN DIRECTS PLAY

David Pace of Menlo Park is director of a Christmas operetta to be presented Sunday at 5 p.m. at the parish house of All Saints' Episcopal Church at Waverley street and Hamilton avenue in Palo Alto, and featuring 60 youngsters of the church Sunday school. The play is open to the public.

PET CLINIC OKAYED

Menlo Park city planners this week granted a use permit to Richard E. Mott, for operation of a pet store and clinic at 720 Willow road. No overnight lodging of animals is contemplated, they were told.

Marine Band Wins Top Prize In 'Welcome Santa' Parade

The U.S. Marine Corps' department of the Pacific Band marched off with sweepstake honors here at the conclusion of the city's annual parade welcoming Santa Claus and the start of the Yuletide season Saturday.

Some 3000 avid fans of St. Nick turned out to greet him and 26 other units which took an hour to traverse the distance from Johnson street to Doyle street along Santa Cruz avenue.

Estimate of the size of the crowd was made by Menlo Park police. Some 23 officers including reserves as well as regular patrolmen, kept the crowds under control; even so, enthusiastic youngsters all but mobbed Santa's float and the candy truck which followed it.

Parade Chairman Dick Sulloway of the Menlo Park-Atherton Junior Chamber of Commerce, said this week that although a few units were a little late in confirming themselves as entrants for the march, all were on hand in time for a prompt start at 11 a.m.

Best junior majorette: Sandy Germaine, leader of the Junior 49ers.

Second award, junior majorette: Cathy Goldman, leader of the Don-ettes drum corps.

Best junior majorette marching group: Junior 49ers.

Best color guard: Air Force ROTC unit from Stanford University.

Second prize, color guard: Menlo-Adobe American Legion Post 828.

Best marching group: Rose Ann Studio.

Best senior men's drill team: Stanford AFROTC; second prize: Shriners' patrol.

Junior drum corps: Junior 49ers, first; Palo Alto Paraders, second.

Junior drum corps leaders: Jay Carlton, Junior 49ers; second, Jimmy Daniell, Palo Alto Paraders.

Novelty: Peninsula Quarter Midget Association, first; American Legion 40 et 8 locomotive, second.

Mounted groups: Dorothy Anderson and Tex Fritz, riding a matched pair, first; Page Mill Riders, second.

Civilian bands: Cubberley High School, first; Menlo-Atherton High School, second.

Scattered Minor Ills Reported Here

Children's diseases appeared to be going the rounds in Menlo Park once again in November, with the county health department's regular monthly statistical report showing chicken pox, German measles, mumps and whooping cough reported from inside the city limits during that period.

Administrators at the health department explained, however, that incidence of all four diseases is probably minor; reports from doctors are seldom made when cases are scattered.

In addition to "children's diseases," a single case of gonorrhea was reported from inside the city limits during the month and a single case of the same disease, along with a case of tuberculosis, made up the total of other infectious ailments found outside the city limits.

Localites Sing In College Choir

Marcia Barnes of Woodside, James Hildreth and Judith Stainson of Menlo Park, and Candra Williams of Atherton, are members of the College of San Mateo A Cappella choir of 57 voices presenting a series of six programs of Christmas music for community organizations between Dec. 5 and 19.

Directed by Fredric Roehr, formerly of Menlo Park, the College choir has a repertoire of 14 Christmas carols and hymns from which selections will be sung at each program.

Favorite Christmas hymns include "O Come All Ye Faithful," "Away in a Manger," "Ave Maria," and "Silent Night." A less familiar twelfth century hymn is "Beautiful Saviour." Carols include a Sicilian carol, "On the Mountain," a Finnish carol, "Lost in the Night," and a Welsh carol, "Deck the Halls," and the Norwegian Cradle Song, "Little Lordien," by Baldwin. "O Holy Lord," by Dett, the "Three Kings," by William, and "Gathering Clouds," by Hain, are also in the repertoire.

Postal Units Get Ready For Big Rush

New longer hours at Menlo Park postoffice substations and contract stations, to be maintained for the remainder of the pre-Christmas mailing season, were recapitulated this week by Postmaster Harry B. Morey.

At the same time, he announced the opening of a second downtown station, to be operated for the next two weeks at 1110 Crane street, six days a week. The new temporary station has been activated to relieve congestion at the main postoffice, 560 Oak Grove avenue.

The postmaster pointed out that two of the area's three contract stations, one in Portola Valley and the other in the Menalto shopping district in the Willow area, have set Saturdays hours.

The postal contract station at the Atherton town hall will observe regular business hours, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., on weekdays.

The schedule:

Main postoffice, 560 Oak Grove: Weekdays, Dec. 11 to 19, 8:30 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. Saturdays, Dec. 13 and 20, 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sundays, Dec. 14 and 21: 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.

West Menlo Park Branch, 3528 Alameda: Weekdays, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturdays, Dec. 13 and 20, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Christmas Annex, 1110 Crane street: Weekdays, Dec. 8 to 23, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturdays, Dec. 13 and 20, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Contract Stations: Atherton Branch, 94 Ashfield road; Portola Valley Branch, 844 Portola road; Contract Station No. 2, 1919 Menalto: Weekdays, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturdays, Dec. 13 and 20, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Atherton Branch closed Saturdays.

As We See It:

The 'Baddies' Appear At Christmas, Too

Not everybody looks on Christmas as a time for charity, rededication to Christian principles, and solemn affirmation of man's brotherhood with man.

Some have got a little mixed up: they're for charity — for themselves; they're for gifts — to themselves; they believe in brotherhood — in their favor.

We refer of course to the shoplifters, the check passers and the fast-talkers who "can get it for you wholesale" if you give them cash on your doorstep.

These and a whole host of other miscreants make their appearance at Christmas time.

It's well to be aware that they're about.

United Crusade Needs Your Help

Let's face it. San Mateo county's United Crusade drive for 1958 is in trouble.

Well beyond its Nov. 18 target date for ending its annual drive, it has collections which stands at $520,000. The leaders of the Crusade have been realistic; they have cut their hopes and expectations to a minimum and they still find they need about $70,000 if the Crusade for this county is going to be able to fulfill its vital obligations.

Twenty-four public agencies are involved; they serve youth and promote health and welfare. Their causes are worthy.

These agencies joined together in their annual fund raising efforts because it was felt that people would rather support such agencies as the YMCA, USO, Community Council, Children's Home Society, Heart Association and Family Service Agency — to name a few — in one big give instead of a lot of smaller ones .

It hasn't worked out that way.

Instead of individual organizations finding themselves in financial trouble separately, they now find themselves in trouble collectively.

Under the old, "every man for himself" system, some non-profit community benefit organizations had only minor financial difficulties each year; the majority had bigger headaches.

Now, it seems, every organization in the United Crusade is going to share the headache, and it's going to be a dilly.

In a final effort to keep the United Crusade from ignominy, its administrators have contacted church leaders from throughout the county, urging through them that each church member send in one more dollar to help make up the Crusade's present deficit.

We hope the scheme works, not because it will glorify the United Crusade, particularly, but because we feel that the services mentioned above and the other agencies included in the total of 24 are vital to the community.

We urge your support . . . and your dollar.

Send it now to United Crusade, 2297 El Camino Real, San Mateo.

S. F. Chamber of Commerce Has Tonic for Worriers

Pessimism, some feel, is just good business. If a person worries enough about every forward move, he's apt not to take an ill-advised chance; this will preserve him longer.

The pessimists, unfortunately, usually don't see what's going on. The old saying that "a pessimist is somebody who looks at his feet, while an optimist looks around," still is true.

The San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, in a recent effort to jar pessimists into getting their eyes off the ground, issued the following view of Bay area progress:

Business activity in San Francisco for the first 10 month of this year and for October broke all previous records, according to the research department of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce.

Nearly every major field of activity in October topped the same month last year by wide margins.

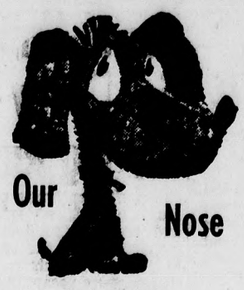

The Chamber business activity index for October of 163.1 surpassed last October by 7.2 per cent. The 10-month average of 153.3 edged the same period last year by 0.5 per cent.

Sharing in the October year-to-year gains in San Francisco were: the construction permits value authorized, up 24.7 per cent; real estate deeds recorded, 8.0 per cent; retail department store sales, 7.6 per cent; bank debits, 8.5 per cent; number of shares traded on the Pacific Coast Stock Exchange, 68.8 per cent and their market value, 212.6 per cent; freight car movements, 11.5 per cent; San Francisco airport plane traffic, 4.2 per cent; passenger traffic, 6.2 per cent; air mail poundage, 18 per cent; and air freight, 12.2 per cent. Truck movements were up 7.3 per cent; Port of San Francisco revenue tonnage, 2.0 per cent; Bay Bridge vehicle traffic, 8.2 per cent; and Golden Gate Bridge vehicle traffic, 8.6 per cent. Commercial failures were fewer by 8.3 per cent.

Major fields sharing in gains for the first 10 months compared to the similar period last year were: construction permit value, 16.3 per cent; bank debits, 0.7 per cent; stock exchange transaction shares, 10.7 per cent; and market value, 29 per cent.

This is only part of the San Francisco Chamber's statement, but it gives you the idea.

Sounds pretty hopeful, doesn't it?

TELLS US:

City mechanic Norm Rosander had a couple of consolatory thoughts Monday, as he surveyed the more than $600 damage done to a Menlo Park police car when it was hit by a car driven by an 11-year-old speeder at 2:10 a.m. that day.

For one thing, it wasn't a new police car; it was two years old and had 78,000 miles recorded on the odometer.

It was already traded off. A local auto dealer had its replacement in stock.

In view of these considerations, the car was taken to the city corporation yard where Rosander stripped off special police equipment such as red lights, the siren, a special heavy duty generator, and a variety of radio gear.

Another birdwatchers' note comes from the Menlo Park Fire District station at Middlefield road and Santa Monica avenue. The Great Blue Heron who started visiting last year has resumed his practice of landing, occasionally, in the large open field across the road.

Nobody knows what he does there; he just lands and stands around.

Probably a people-watcher, according to the smoke-chasers.

Cooperation is a two-way street.

Menlo Park Planning Commission Chairman Charles Anderson indicated he understood this, this week, when he asked for a credit card application from a nationally-known oil company.

The oil company last month asked approval of plans for a service station at Grayson court and Willow road; planners demurred, asking that a "rustic" building be substituted for the steel-and-glass structure proposed.

Monday night, a representative of the oil company brought in plans for such a structure. They were approved with avidity.

Municipal Report:

Lack of Block Wardens Hamstrings Civil Defense

A shortage of area "block wardens" and assistants to them is hampering complete organization for possible civil disasters, a spokesman for the Menlo Park Civil Disaster Council said this week.

The council itself continues to meet with a full membership; meetings are held on the first Thursdays of every month. However, the spokesman said there are many vacancies in the ranks of the wardens, headed by Police Lieutenant Tony DeOcampo.

"Wardens nowadays aren't marched up and down the streets with broomsticks and flashlights," the spokesman said. "They may never be called upon, except in case of an emergency."

The job of a warden, according to DeOcampo, at this time consists of getting acquainted with the area in which the warden lives, and compiling information such as location of fire hydrants and utilities.

Collecting information on the number of people in each house and a distribution of civil defense pamphlets, otherwise available only at the city hall, are other tasks which should be undertaken by the block workers, the spokesman said.

Assistant Chief Warden is Evan Rischpater, who handles signups of prospective wardens. He may be reached at DA 3-1235.

Following is a list of wardens currently active:

Warden District 1, Vard Stieglitz, 1841 Stanford; district 2: None; district 3: Anthony Donofrio, 5 Cotton place; district 4: no volunteers from this district; district 5: Warren Slack, 1160 May Brown; district 6: None.

District 7: C. H. Artru, 1240 San Mateo drive; district 8: None; district 9: Joseph Duncan, 301 University drive; district 10: We need help! None; district 11: No volunteers; district 12: John A. Sullivan, 1275 Crane street; district 13: None.

District 20: John Duff, 511 Bay road; district 21: None; district 22: None; district 23: None; district 24: Paul W. Jones, 103 Newbridge street; district 25: William Fablinger, 133 Bay road; district 26: Gregory Bateson, 1051 Colby; district 27: Ray A. Smith, 220 Concord drive.

Map above shows Civilian Disaster organization's warden's areas, under which work would be organized in case of disaster.

County Comment:

Middlefield Rd. Improvement Finally in Legal Works

By FLOYD M. McCUE
Editor and Publisher, Redwood City Star-Advertiser

After all the years of haggling and name-calling, the improvements for Middlefield road through its most congested section is actually off on a legal start. The board of supervisors this week sent the half-million-dollar program to the county engineer for preliminary planning. Once approved an engineer will be named to prepare the working plans and supervice construction.

Petitions bearing the names of more than 65 per cent of the property owners involved gave the supervisors the official go-ahead sign. Actually the list of names included only 63.6 per cent because several signers had failed to record their names exactly as registered on the voting lists.

This figure was far above the 50 per cent required, however, and we should see a spring start on this important job.

The many people who use Middlefield road for their every-day travels or only infrequently will welcome this news. This connecting link between Redwood City and Palo Alto and points south is probably the most heavily traveled secondary street in the county.

The busy link through the business area from the Southern Pacific tracks south of Redwood City to a point near Eighth avenue will be widened to four lanes, with curbs, sidewalks and off -street parking strips.

Of the total cost, the county will provide $210,000 from gas tax funds, or almost half the estimated total.

The fact that Middlefield road has gone down and down over the years dates back to the long fight of property owners with former engineer M.A. "Cap" Grant.

Residents of the area had made demands throughout the years but each time Grant refused to approve any use of county funds. His claim was that the improvements were of local nature and a benefit to the adjoining properties and that they should pay the bill. The fight went on. Spokesmen pointed out that the county was spending hundreds of thousands of dollars on cross-county laterals such as the link to Pescadero and La Honda and that Middlefield was entitled to its share. Grant held out and kept this opinion until he retired.

When Don S. Wilson stepped into Grant's job he was inclined to accept his former boss' opinion and the improvements continued in stalemate. Quite suddenly, however, Wilson agreed to gas tax funds for the job, undoubtedly at the insistence of some members of the board of supervisors; William M. Werder in particular.

Once it was agreed that the county would assist, property owners started the circulation of petitions and the second stage is now set. No one was on hand to offer a protest, showing that the job is badly needed.

One dissenter, C. W. Buckley, who has lost his permit to operate a wrecking yard, was expected to differ with the plans. His long-time feud with the board over the operations of his yard has made headlines for many years and despite the loss of a permit, he continues to operate.

With this job on its way, we still have hopes other cities involved will start planning improvements for this busy thoroughfare. Redwood City has hopes of widening its section of the road to four lanes and the county indicates it will talk of improving the short link from the southerly city limits of this city to the start of the new project. The widening process becomes more difficult through Atherton, parts of Menlo Park and Palo Alto.

The new freeway, the widened El Camino Real and even the planned Junipero Serra freeway won't help the congestion on Middlefield road. But at least we have a good start, thanks to the getting together of the supervisors, the engineer and the property owners.

People are getting quite a kick out of the proposal by Supervisor Thomas Callan that the board have a Cadillac and maybe a chauffeur at its disposal at all times.

Some of the remarks we can't print, but others run like this: "What the hell do they need a car for?" "What's the matter with using their own cars; they get paid mileage." "What's the difference, they should go first call at all times."

We can't be sure of just what brought on Callan's proposal, but it probably goes back to recent public events at the International Airport. San Francisco officials roll up to the gates in a big black Cadillac as if it were the president's party. They get the big wave of the hand from the private gate keeper to enter and then get all the red carpet service possible.

Our supervisors arrive by separate cars in almost all instances, and are shunted off to the public parking area. Callan is not the only board member who gets a little put out.

We see no reason why our board members have to take a back seat to anyone at public functions.

A Cadillac, if that's what they want, is OK. A uniformed deputy sheriff could handle the driving chores rather than a full-time chauffeur, however,

City Changed Mayors at Council Meet

The files of the Menlo Park Recorder reveal that, 30 years ago this week, the following items, here reproduced exactly as first published, were news in the young community:

December 14, 1928:

When the meeting of the City Council was called to order last Tuesday evening in addition to all members being present a large audience was also in attendance to witness the fireworks. Like the preceding meeting this display came from an unexpected source. Dr. Blake moved that Mayor W. H. Weeden be removed from his place as Mayor and the motion carried by a vote of 3 to 2. J. C. Ellis was then placed in nomination for the seat and was elected by the same 3 to 2 vote.

The regular meeting of the council held last Tuesday evening was called to order by Mayor Weeden at eight o'clock and on roll call all of the members answered to their names.

Councilman Blake arose to a point of privilege, preferring charges against Mayor Weeden for aiding and abetting the recall petition, thereby working against other members of the council . . .

Postoffice at New Quarters

December 10, 1948:

Menlo Park's spanking new postoffice at 560 Oak Grove avenue will be open for business Monday, Dec. 13, Postmaster Harry B. Morey said yesterday.

All facilities are to be in operation.

During this week, improvised window service has been provided at the old quarters on El Camino Real. Workers were busy removing furnishings at the same time patrons were being served. Meantime, operations were going on in the new structure, where clerks were sorting mail.

MP Rotarians To Hear Platt

William Platt, deputy director of economic research at Stanford Research Institute, yesterday reviewed "The Economics of Western Europe" before the Menlo Park Rotary Club.

A resident of Atherton and chairman of the Menlo Park School District board of trustees, Platt spent last summer traveling in Europe.

The Rotary Club meets each Wednesday at 12:15 p.m. at the Fraternal meeting hall, 645 Roble avenue.

Menlo Park Masons to Install R. H. Stevens as Leader

R. T. STEVENS

Reginald Harold Stevens will be installed Worshipful Master of Menlo Park Lodge 651, Free and Accepted Masons at the 32nd installation of officers of the lodge to be held on Saturday, Dec. 13, at 8 p.m., in the Fraternal building, 845 Roble avenue, Menlo Park.

Stevens, who operates a jewelry manufacturing business in San Mateo, resides with his wife, Irene, at 896 Middle avenue, Menlo Park. Emigrating to this country from England in 1948 after he had completed five years' service with the Royal Air Force during the war, Stevens soon became affiliated with Menlo Park Lodge.

The Stevens' have two sons, both recently honorably discharged from the U.S. Army. Roy is studying for his masters degree at San Jose State College, and Malcolm is taking his masters degree at Cornell University.

In addition to his affiliation with the Menlo Park Lodge, Stevens is also a member of the Peninsula bodies of Scottish Rite Freemasonry in Burlingame.

Other officers to be installed are Albert F. Koula, senior warden; Russell J. Braasch, junior warden; Ormond N. Rector, treasurer; Leonard Wallach, secretary; David A. McElhatton, chaplain; Donald D. Pitman, senior deacon; Edward A. Grindle, junior deacon; John D. Simpson, marshal; Tommie T. Hudson, senior steward; Henry Larson, junior steward; Lawton L. Leonard, tyler, and Donald W. Day, organist.

The installing officer will be the retiring master, Robert F. Gidberg and the master of ceremonies will be Edward C. Buchanan, P.M. Royal Hodge, P.M., will officiate as installing chaplain. The installation is informal and open to the public.

OBITUARY

N. E. Bergman

Funeral services were held yesterday for Norman Easton Bergman, a former resident of Menlo Park, who died Sunday in Palo Alto after a long illness.

Bergman, who was 41, had made his home here from 1950 until 1956, after which he and his family moved to Redwood City.

Surviving him are his wife, Dorothy, and two sons: Wayne Allen Bergman, United States Navy, and Terry Lee Bergman of Concord. In addition, he is survived by the following brothers and sisters:

Owen Bergman, Andrew Bergman, Robert Bergman, all of Salt Lake City, Utah; Mrs. Genevia Raymond of Mountain View and Mrs. Ruth Phillips of Oakland.

A native of Midvale, Utah, Bergman had been a foreman for the last 19 years with Westinghouse in Sunnyvale.

Bishop Keith Garner of the Menlo Park Ward, Church of the Latter-Day Saints, officiated at the funeral, which was conducted from the chapel of Roller and Hapgood, 980 Middlefield road, Palo Alto.

Interment was private.

Driver Cited In Wake of Atherton Mishap

A driver whose auto crashed into the rear of a stopped car on El Camino Real in Atherton Sunday evening was cited for speeding in the wake of the accident.

Atherton officer Robert Rose said the driver, Navy Petty Officer Daniel Worley Pierce of San Jose, told him he could not remember details of the crash. He was taken to Palo Alto Hospital for treatment of a slight brain concussion and a fractured right kneecap.

Rose said he first spotted Pierce's southbound car as he attempted to make a left turn off the highway at Selby lane. Because it was apparently traveling at a speed over the limit, he swung around and gave chase, he reported.

Officer Rose said he had clocked Pierce's auto at a speed of 50 miles per hour when it crashed into the rear of one operated by Donald E. Sears, 37, of Los Altos. Sears was stopped at Atherton avenue, in response to a traffic signal.

Math 'Speedup,' Too:

School District Hopes for Early Use of Electronics Lab

Menlo Park School District has become the first elementary school agency to indicate it wants to be able to angle certain students' curriculums so they can take advantage of an electronics laboratory to be set up in the Sequoia High School District.

So declared School District Superintendent Dr. Mel Homfeld last week, as he reported to the district's board of trustees on apparent success of the districts' accelerated mathematics and science programs. He said that the latter were proceeding successfully.

Dr. Homfeld pointed out that the Lenkurt Foundation of San Carlos is working cooperatively with the Sequoia High School District, to provide and equip an electronics laboratory on the Sequoia High School campus.

This would be used for the training of technicians who would go into the field immediately after high school graduation, as well as those who needed basic training in electronics as background for advanced work in colleges and universities.

"It is planned," Dr. Homfeld reported, that the Lenkurt Electronics laboratory will consist of organized classroom instruction as a regular part of the high school schedules. Also, to whatever extent possible, they will provide late afternoon classes for students from interested elementary school districts."

The Menlo Park agency, Dr. Homfeld said, has requested information on this part of the program at the earliest possible date.

Turning to consideration of the school district's math program, Dr. Homfeld reported that there have been several meetings between seventh and eighth grade math teachers and those at the high school.

It was agreed, he said, that qualified students could be placed in advanced algebra classes on entering high school.

He said, however, that complete success of the program depended on further meetings, at which high school teachers could help with the selection of texts and other materials which would aid in "dovetailing" of the elementary and high school programs.

He said principals and upper grade teachers in the three schools of the Menlo Park Elementary District which have seventh and eighth grades are working together, to get a standarized program under which students can leave the eighth grade with a standard mathematics background, a semester of algebra besides that, or a full year of algebra.

Scouts Take Overnight Hiking Trip

Boys who went on this trip were S. Brownell, K. Decker, R. Ligon, B. Lew, R. Harder, A. Travis, D. Dowler, D. Dowler (brothers), R. Jensen, C. Page, J. Karagas, R. Smith, J. Ricker and T. Langton.

Advance requirements were completed as follows: First Aid Merit Badge, S. Brownell and B. Lew; Second Class Rank, R. Harder and K. Decker; Tenderfoot Rank, J. Ricker.

Troop 118 will not sell Christmas trees this year. Instead they are planning a combination open house and Christmas party to be held at the American Legion Hall on Tuesday evening, Dec. 23. Scout skills will be demonstrated, entertainment will be provided and prizes will be awarded.

Santa Claus will be there and give Christmas goodies to the smaller children. Troop 118 with this endeavor is attempting to raise their complete budget for the coming year. The Scouts are now selling tickets for 50 cents each.

Fire District Seeks Ruling

Menlo Park Fire District commissioners Monday night moved to seek the support of other legislators in getting permission for the district to adopt national codes by reference.

In a resolution directed to the county's two assemblymen, the county board of supervisors and the state fire marshal, they asked that the word "district" be added to the list of types of public agencies, which now include cities and counties, which can adopt new regulations by this method.

At present, if the district wants to adopt a code, it has to publish it in full.

Barbara Rhoades Off to Germany

Barbara S. Rhoades, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Rhoades of 670 Creek drive, is one of 63 students who will form the second contingent of tSanford men and women to study at the university's new study center in Germany.

Miss Rhoades is one of 30 women and 33 men who will leave Dec. 30 for the campus near Stuttgart. The group will fly via Pan-American Airways' polar route, directly to the city near the campus.

The new group is expected to arrive in time to join in the New Years' celebration at the European campus.

The United States flag was first raised on Wake Island July 4, 1898.

After 100 MPH Chase:

Authorities Study Penalty For 11-Year-Old Speeder

County juvenile authorities yesterday still hadn't set a penalty for an 11-year-old west Menlo Park boy who early Monday hit two police cars and demolished a service station, during the course of a high speed chase from Belmont to Menlo Park.

Eleven police cars were involved in the melee, which started at the north city limits of San Carlos. A Menlo Park police car was severely damaged and put out of action. Earlier in the chase, a San Carlos patrol car was hit as its driver attempted to slow the 100-mile-per-hour speed the boy was making through Redwood City.

Police leveled a total of 15 charges including a felony charge of assault with a deadly weapon against the child, Donald W. Allbee, son of Deputy Sheriff and Mrs. Eugene Allbee of 578 Olive street in Menlo Park.

Charges included reckless driving, driving without a license, speeding and passing five red lights in Redwood City alone.

The chase started at about 2 a.m. when Officer Byron Mobus of the San Carlos police saw a northbound 1955 sedan being driven on the highway.

Officer Mobus said he started to pursue the vehicle and noticed that its driver was apparently very young: only his head was visible through the windows.

As he watched the car, its small pilot executed a wide, erratic u-turn at San Carlos' north city limits, and headed back south.

Calling a second San Carlos patrol car, Officer Mobus continued in his report, he turned on his red light and loudspeaker and attempted to "talk" the boy to the curb. The two San Carlos police had almost succeeded, he said, when the 11-year-old stepped on the gas and the chase was on.

Mobus said that he radioed ahead and at the same time raised his auto's speed to 110 miles per hour, in an effort to get past the boy-operated vehicle.

CRASHES VEHICLE

He succeeded in Redwood City and began braking, in an effort to slow the speed of the car behind; when he did so, the Albee lad crashed his car into the rear of the police vehicle, switched to the highway's northbuond lanes, and continued his 100-mile-per-hour career.

Mobus contiued the chase; his car was not severely damaged.

By the time the car reached Menlo Park there were two San Carlos, four Redwood City, and two Atherton police vehicles in pursuit.

Officer John Lyle, who joined the Menlo Park police June 9, attempted to stop the fleeing child's auto as he pulled onto the highway from Ravenswood avenue. But the boy rammed the police car with the one he was driving, spinning it completely around.

Steering gear of the southbound sedan was sufficiently damaged, however, so that the child had only partial control. He managed to keep going in the highway's northbound lanes for another half mile, however, before losing control and piling into a service station at College avenue and El Camino Real.

Police Chief George Potter said the stations' pumps were untouched, but that the seel-and-glass structure was demolished. He added that a pay telephone inside was hurled 30 feet by the force of the impact.

Chief Potter also pointed out that, in his view, the fact that Officer Lyle's patrol car was spun around, rather than turned over, probably saved him from injury. As it was the officer was unhurt.

The boy himself suffered only a cut on the nose when his car hit the service station.

The child told police he had sneaked out of the family home after everybody else was asleep, and taken the family car.

REASON FOR SPEED

He said he decided to try to outrun officers because he realized that his father would be angry if he found that the car was missing.

He was released to his father's custody, pending decision by the juvenile court as to the merits of his case.

Mrs. Albee said that she didnt' know how her son had learned to drive. The car had been parked in the family's garage, she said.

Donald, a sixth grade pupil at Oak Knoll School, last year was shot accidentally by his twin brother, Tommy, with a 22-caliber rifle. The boys had been practicing shooting in the back yard of their home.

Police said the Albee sedan was a total wreck.

SOCIAL STUDIES and Economic Issues section of AAUW will meet tomorrow at 9:30 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Clyde Walker, 156 Heather drive, in Atherton.

Cancer Society Quota To Be Bigger in '59

San Mateo county's Cancer Fund drive quota for 1959 has been boosted to $88,000, an increase of about $8,000 over last year, today announced San Mateo county American Cancer Society branch President Mrs. Grace Hedge of Menlo Park.

The quota has been raised by the state ACS headquarters, because San Mateo county topped its quota last year to rank as the No. 1 county in the State of California.

"It may seem almost a penalty to some of us," said Mrs. Hedge at a recent meeting of some 50 captains and local ACS leaders in San Mateo.

"But," stressed Mrs. Hedge, "far from being a penalty, it is actually one of the highest compliments which can be paid to the people of San Mateo county.

"It was their understanding and generosity which carried us to such an outstanding victory last year. Now we have another challenge before us. The state and national ACS boards are pretty sure that the good people of this county will again respond to the appeal for their help. Not all counties have been as fortunate.

"This is a tremendous tribute, too, to our workers, the captains, district and division chairmen who are again organizing a corps of 4,000 workers to canvass door-to-door."

Mrs. Eleanor Clancy of 180 Hillsdale drive, Woodside, outlined strides undertaken in county-wide education and urged workers to encourage distribution of pamphlets and film showings at various club meetings.

Those attending the meeting included Mrs. Alta Lazzareschi, Atherton; Mrs. W. A. Gregory, Menlo Park.

Mrs. Wallace E. Ott, Menlo Park; Mrs. George F. Cleese, Jr., Menlo Park, unincorporated; Mrs. Herbert Stark, Portola Valley; Mrs. Heber Tilden, Mrs. William Wallace, Mrs. John B. Smurr, all of Woodside; Mrs. Olive Mann, East Palo Alto.

Marine Gets His Diploma

SAN DIEGO (Special)—Marine Private Robert G. Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Anderson of 1101 Johnson street, Menlo Park, was presented a high school diploma Nov. 6 at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego.

The diploma was awarded as a result of successful completion of the United States Armed Forces Institute High School Equivalency Test which was taken at San Diego.

New Police Car Now in Service

A new police car, replacing one wrecked early Monday, was placed in service by the Menlo Park police department yesterday.

The official vehicle has more white paint on it than most police cars, according to Chief George Potter; besides the usual white doors, it has white trunk and hood.

Fire District Reveals Plans For Home Inspections Here

A home inspection campaign is being planned for all residential areas of the Menlo Park Fire District, Chief George Carter announced this week.

Pointing to the success of a recent program under which firemen distributed printed telephone stickers and home safety literature to approximately 20,000 homes, Chief Carter said the new service will get underway in the near future.

He pointed out that the largest percentage of injuries and deaths from fire each year are in the home.

It is planned to have the firemen conduct a house to house tour throughout the fire district, offering a free inspection and pointing out to the householder the hazards they observe in and around the home, their potential danger and the proper method of correction.

Firemen will enter the home only upon invitation of the householder and will inspect such areas as kitchen, utility room, storage areas, basement, attic, garage and yard. Other areas will be inspected only upon request of the occupant also, the chief said.

Chief Carter pointed out that through the use of three-way radio equipment installed on the fire apparatus, the personnel and fire equipment will remain in service at all times while conducting inspections.

This program is being carried out under the supervision of the Fire Prevention Bureau.

Advance notice of the commencement date for the program will be given as widespread publicity as possible through such mediums as local newspapers and news bulletins of community organizations.

EARLIER SUCCESS

The success of recent distribution of literature and telephone stickers has already been brought out in many cases by comments received from citizens who have had occasion to call the fire department for fire or some other emergency.

These people have expressed gratitude that in time of emergency when they were in a state of excitement the telephone number was there in front of them and they were able to contact the fire department immediately, Carter observed.

It has also resulted in fewer cases of persons in the district contacting the wrong fire department.

MUSIC Appreciation group of AAUW will meet December 15 at 8 p.m. at the home of Dr. R. Manning Hermes, 1200 San Mateo drive, Menlo Park.

Postoffice Drivers Win Safety Awards

Menlo Park's postoffice truck drivers were granted the recognition of being named by the regional postoffice director for industrial safety and motor vehicle safety awards for 1958, it was anonunced this week.

The local office operates 11 trucks during most of the year and as many as 30 during the Christmas season. There has not been a serious accident involving a Menlo Park postoffice vehicle for several years; the last minor accident in which one was involved occurred last spring.

R. J. Stonehouse, 333 Yale road, safety officer at the postoffice here said the recognition is relatively rare and confers "a real distinction" on the local drivers.

An employee of the local office for the past 15 years, he has been in charge of the safety program for the past four years.

Drivers are given continuous training and tests to make sure they maintain efficiency.

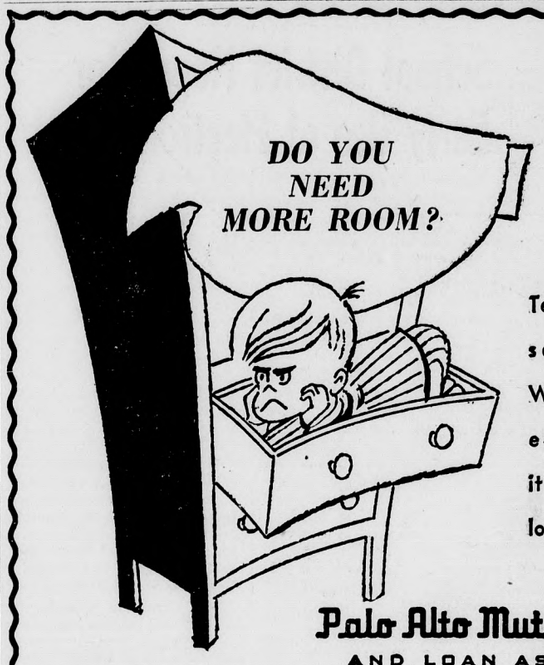

SCOTT JOINS OFFICE

John L. Scott, who has been planning manager for the Salem, Oregon, regional office of Allstate Insurance Co., has been promoted to planning manager, Allstate Pacific Coast Zone headquarters in Menlo Park, according to E. A. Frederick, vice-president.

Menlo-Atherton Breezes Through Home Opener, 56-42

Menlo-Atherton's Bear basketballers opened their 1958 home season last week, with nearly 1000 fans watching the Friday afternoon contest. Coach Bob Ayers' aggregation put on a good show trimming a taller Los Altos five, 56-42, and staying unbeaten.

Roaming the sidelines during the contest was Recorder Editor-turned-photographer, Roger Freeberg. His 35 mm. camera caught the action pictures on this page, previewing the exciting cage season ahead for Menlo-Atherton

Complete coverage and statistics of M-A's varsity and B basketball fortunes can be found inside this section.

M-A Wins First Three Games Easily; Faces Washington Cagers Today

Sunnyvale Falls, 45-33

Menlo-Atherton's Bears continued their domination over Santa Clara Valley squads here Tuesday with a resounding 45-33 win over Sunnyvale.

Coach Bob Ayers' Bruins travel to Fremont today for a 3:15 p.m. clash with Washington High School, and meet Hillsdale here Tuesday in their final pre-holiday game.

The Bears are favored to go into the Dec. 18-19-20 Palo Alto Holiday Invitational undefeated. They will face Bellarmine in the opening round and a win should send them against the tourney favorites, George Washington of San Francisco.

Against Sunnyvale Tuesday, the Bears faced the coldest and sloppiest shooting team they've seen all season. The visitors hit a paltry .191 from the field on 13 buckets in 68 attempts. M-A hit .340.

Menlo-Athetron grabbed a quick 2-0 lead on Paul Dallas' tip-in (the first of three for Dallas) and after being tied 2-2, went ahead to score 16 straight points and sink Sunnyvale.

Ayers started Dallas and Davis at guards, Oksanen and McDowell at forwards and Doug Garner at center. Balanced scoring and a rapidly-improving fast-break offense kept the first team on the march throughout the first half.

Paul Dallas, in his best showing of the year, took scoring honors for both teams with 12. Although a guard and only six feet tall, he scored three buckets on well timed tip-ins.

A flood of reserves saw action during most of the second half for M-A. Sunnyvale had managed to pick up only three stray field goals and six points in the first half against the M-A zone defense.

Fast-Breaks Kills Los Altos, 56-42

M-A's deep, deep Bears, sparked by a smooth-functioning starting combination of Cliff Davis, Paul Dallas, Dave McDowell, Clive Hanson and Ken Oksanen, had an easy time Friday winning their home basketball opener, 56-42.

The Knights from Los Altos were the victims, although surprisingly enough, they outshot the Bears .457 to .450.

But Coach Ayers' crew, fast-breaking whenever possible and capitalizing on a host of Los Altos mistakes, fired up 16 more shot attempts, hitting on 23 of 51. The Knights hit 16 for 35.

M-A got off fast in the contest, sparked by two baskets each by Paul Dallas and Dave McDowell, and held a commanding 13-3 first quarter lead.

The Bears started in a zone defense and stayed that way all evening, as Los Altos took only nine shots during the entire first half, hitting five of them.

In the meantime little Cliff Davis of M-A was on his way to best game of the young season. The 5'8" playmaker turned scorer against the Knights, scoring 13 points on five of six field goal attempts and three free throws.

Close behind Cliff in the balanced scoring attack was Ken Oksanen with 10, Dave McDowell and Paul Dallas with nine each and Rick Wright with six.

Top scorer for the day, however, was Los Altos forward Chip Pratt. The 6'4" senior tallied 18 markers, 10 of these in the last quarter against Bear reserves.

Fifteen Bears saw action in the game, nine of them breaking into the scoring department, as Coach Bob Ayers gave the large home student crowd a view of the surprising depth of the squad.

No less than eight players are still fighting for first team positions, with Dave McDowell and Cliff Davis the only sure starters.

Strengthening his spot as the other guard, however, was junior Paul Dallas. He turned in a fine floor game Friday and hit on four of seven shots.

Ken Oksanen and Rick Wright shared the other forward chores, with Clive Hanson and Doug Garner scrapping for the top center position.

The Bears were never headed after jumping to their big first quarter lead against Los Altos and although the Knights were the taller team, Menlo-Atherton controlled both boards most of the way.

Cliff Davis, a lefty jump-shooter, was the best player on the floor. In addition to his own 13-point scoring effort, he set up teammates for several easy fast-breaking buckets.

It was Davis' mid-court shot that banged through the nets off the backboard as the horn sounded ending the third quarter. The two-pointer gave M-A a 41-29 lead.

McDowell Stars In 37-23 Victory

Dave McDowell, an all-SPAL footballer who had been out for basketball less than two weeks, stole the show at Mountain View last week as Menlo-Atherton rocked the Eagles in their season cage opener for both teams, 37-23.

Senior Dave, who stands only a fraction over six feet tall, scored over half of M-A's points (19) in the contest and did a yeoman job in the rebounding department.

The Bears were a slow-starting machine in the contest, falling behind 7-1 and 9-2 early in the first quarter, as Eagle Phil Arnaudo hit for three quick fielders against a listless M-A man-to-man defense.

But Ayers' shifted his squad into a zone soon after, and the Bears pulled up to trail 9-8 at the quarter pole and take a 15-13 halftime lead.

Two straight 20 foot jump shot by forward Rick Wright in the third period gave the Bears the lead they never relinquished. They were trailing 13-17 before Wright zeroed in, and then moved on to a 23-18 third quarter lead.

M-A shot .349 for the contest, hitting 16 of 43 field attempts. Mountain View hit nine for 30, .300.

Ayers May Have SPAL Champ--Wuesthoff May Not Win a Game

The Menlo-Atherton cagers, with the perennially strong Lincoln of San Jose team no longer around in the SPAL, may have to be rated as this year's title-favorites.

We're making no hasty conclusion until after the Palo Alto Holiday Tourney, for evidently some of the other league teams are shaping up strong also. Palo Alto, Cubberley and Sequoia are currently riding unbeaten interleague win streaks.

But we've seen the Bears three times and liked what we saw. Their weaknesses (and they have them), are overcome by a strong bench. And even though they lost Pressley earlier this year, the Bears still have good rebounding power with Clive Hanson and Dave McDowell.

Ayers has never won an undisputed league championship, although he has tied for it once and finished second several times.

It's still early, but this may be the year.

★ ★ ★ ★

Hold the Headline . . .

The headline on this week's Menlo College basketball story reads: "Oaks Aim for First Cage Win."

When we sent it from our desk to the backshop we also included a note saying, "hold this headline after this week, we should be able to use it again."

That's a bad thing to insinuate in this day and age of some 20-odd basketball games per season—that a team might spend all season looking for its first win.

★ ★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★ ★

One thing is for sure, despite any Frank Merriwell wins the Oaks may pull out of the fire before the season is over—and that a losing season is ahead for Coach Bob Wuesthoff and his crew.

And before the fur really starts flying, we'd like to go on record as saying that Wuesthoff will do all in his power to win this season, and that when the Oaks crumble to the bottom of their conference, it certainly won't be the coach's fault.

★ ★ ★ ★

Horses Havva No. . . .

It's just that Menlo hasn't got the horses! In fact, they've got very few ponies. Their rebounding strength is practically non-existent, their forward scoring punch is very weak and they simply don't have a competent center.

Pegelow was all-league at Menlo-Atherton High School last season, and deserved the honor. But he has yet to prove his consistency in rougher competition. He scored 16, 3, and 14 in the first three games, still good for a 11.0 average per game.

Polhemus, faster and more rugged, is a good jump-shooter like "Corky." But the weight of responsibility will certainly keep the two guards from doing the job they could be doing with a balanced offense.

★ ★ ★ ★

The chance remains that Wuesthoff may pull something out of that hat in time to salvage a Coast Conference game or two ,but we don't know how he'll do it.

At least two top-notch cagers, one of them a first-stringer with the oaks last year, are on campus and eligible to play ball. But they have other things to keep them busy.

★ ★ ★ ★

In a situation like this, where the good athletes come infrequently enough and usually last only one season before moving on to a bigger school, and where the rigors of academic responsibility and social activity outweigh the desire to perform for one's school—we can only offer coach Wuesthoff our sympathy.

★ ★ ★ ★

Looking Ahead . . .

Looking briefly past the coming holiday basketball tournaments at Menlo-Atherton and Palo Alto, we see that the first Easter Invitational Baseball Tournament at Menlo-Atherton will be held March 23-24-25.

Coach Frank Bettencourt has already filled the tourney field with eight teams and each team will play three games, win or lose.

★ ★ ★ ★

Menlo-Atherton will play Sunnyvale in the opening round. Other teams scheduled to appear are Lincoln and Sacred Heart from San Francisco, Willow Glen and Los Altos from the SCVAL, Sequoia from the SPAL, and Hillsdale from the PAL.

Games will be played at Flood and Burgess Parks.

★ ★ ★ ★

Rickochets . . .

. . . Terry Baker, broad jump star at Menlo-Atherton high school last spring, has been elected college council representative for the freshman class at Pomona College.

★ ★ ★ ★

Jim Bush, College of San Mateo football center from Menlo Park, has been chosen to play in the National Junior College All-Star game Dec. 20 at College of Pacific's Memorial stadium. Jim, a service vet who played at M-A in 1952-53, was All-Big Eight center at San Mateo this season.

Oaks Aim For 1st Cage Win

Coach Bob Wuesthoff's Menlo College Oaks, still searching for their first basketball win of the season, will engage in a practice scrimmage tonight against a Palo Alto independent five in Menlo's gym.

Menlo hosts Concordia next Tuesday night at 8 p.m. for their last game before entering the Coast Conference Tourney at San Jose on Dec. 18, 19 and 20.

The Oaks drew Hartnell as their opening round opponent in the three-day tourney. A win against the Panthers would send Menlo against the tourney favorite, San Jose City College.

Win or lose, each team will play three games in the tourney.

Menlo's first league game is set for Jan. 16 against Vallejo.

At Alameda Tuesday night, the Oaks dropped number three in a row, 67-53, to the Naval Air Station. Menlo led during the second half, but found the final 10 minutes of play too tough.

The Oaks dropped their second and third decisions of the year last weekend against Contra Costa and the Stanford JVs.

At Contra Costa Friday night, Menlo took its worst whipping of the season, 67-39. After trailing by 10 at halftime, 28-18, Coach Wuesthoff's squad narrowed the margin to 32-26, but then fell back and stayed there.

The Oaks stayed fairly close for awhile, and finally took a one-point lead, 34-33, in the second half. They had trailed 27-22 at halftime.

But the final 10 minutes of play saw Stanford completely run away with the contest, breezing to a 55-39 finish.

The Menlo scoring attack against Stanford centered around their outcourt combination of Pegelow and Polhemus, as the two guards scored all but seven of Menlo's points.

Polhemus led the parade with 18, while Pegelow bounced back from a dismal three-point output against Contra Costa to tally 14.

Reporting to practice this week was 6'5" Tex Kantzer who was a member of last year's squad. The 220-pounder has been recovering from a leg injury this season.

Second Team for Mike:

Bellarmine's Brennan Named As All-North Calif. Tackle

Mike Brennan, recently named to the All-Catholic League football team for the second straight season, was further honored last week by San Francisco newspapers.

Brennan was named second-team All-Northern California tackle, along with Sequoia's star and SPAL's Player of the Year, L. J. Hauss.

Brennan, who lives in Atherton, was named tri-captain of this year's championship Bellarmine eleven.

He was selected on the first team All-Nort Coast team, but was a close second in balloting for the All - Northern Cal squad.

Another area athlete, Woodside's Jim Fregosi, who starred for Serra, was named All-CAL offensive back last week.

Frank Denny of Menlo Park, and Bellarmine's safety man, was named to the first team defensive unit in the Catholic League.

Bear Grapplers Scrapping For Spots

Defending SPAL Champs Open Next Week Against San Jose

Coach Sam Lugonja's wrestlers still have one more week before taking to the mats for their first interleague match against San Jose, but are keeping plenty active this week, scrapping among themselves."

The defending SPAL champions started wrestle-offs Tuesday, a series of elimination matches in their respective eight divisions to see who would see action against San Jose next week.

Seven lettermen from last year were favored to emerge on top of their divisions, led by NCS champ Doug Catchings in the 138-pound class.

A last-week change by commissioner Gordon McKeon has pushed the SPAL wrestling meet, originally set for Dec. 13, back til Saturday, Dec. 20. The meet will be held at Carlmont.

103—Dave Wellman.
112—Darrell Martin and Rick Bentley.
120—Gary Garabedian*.
127—Arlan Kertz* and Bill Bunker.
133—Charles Yannacone*.
138—Doug Catchings*.
145—Dan Hack*.
154—Dick Costello*.
165—Ed Le Claire.
175—Bob Hayes.
191—Mike Topham* and Russell Banducci.
Unlimited—Paul Giebel.

Rotary Honors Rog Patterson

Roger Patterson, named to the All-South PAL football team last week and recently elected co-captain and Most Valuable Player by his teammates, yesterday received the Rotary Teamwork Award at the Rotary Recognition Lunch.

Jim Cheatham, sophomore halfback, received the froshsoph football Teamwork Award from the Rotarians.

Other Teamwork awards were announced two weeks ago at the Dad's Club banquet held at Menlo-Atherton.

In Practice Wrestling Match:

Woodside Pins Eight Trojans, Wins 45-13

Woodside's wrestling team defeated Ravenswood Tuesday in a practice match between the two new schools, 45-13.

The Wildcats, coached by Vern Sterling, won in nine of the 12 weight divisions, eight of them by pins. The 191-pound class was forfeited by Ravenswood.

Results:

103—Takahtshi (W) pinned Kameda.
112—Iwatsobo (R) decisioned Bateman.
120—Woolery (W) pinned Oliver.
127—Ballough (W) pinned Jones.
133—Smith (W) pinned Funabiki.
138—Collins (W) pinned Matsumoto.
145—Brownell (R) pinned Borg.
154—Hawkins (W) pinned Prince.
165—Clutter (W) pinned Iwatsobo.
175 — Martin (W) pinned Welch.
191—Woodside, forfeit.
Unlimited—Lodi (R) pinned Jordan.

Peck and Lee Lead Bear 'B' Cagers to Three in a Row

Menlo-Atherton's B cagers, led by the field firing of Jon Peck and free-throw accuracy of Frankie Lee, have swept through their first three interleague games unbeaten.

But they came very close to blowing one Tuesday, finally winning 46-42.

After taking a commanding 37-25 lead at the end of three quarters, coach Bill Loftus' boys ran into trouble. Sunnyvale, scoring mostly from the free-throw line, roared back into contention and trailed 43-41 with 1:25 remaining.

With only 42 seconds left, Sunnyvale scored a free throw and trailed 43-42. But Menlo-Atherton's southpaw guard, Frankie Lee, connected on two clutch free throws with 17 seconds remaining to ice the contest.

Lee hit 12 of 17 free throw attempts in the game and was leading scorer with 16 points.

In earlier contests last week, the Bs were easy winners, 59-31 over Mountain View and 59-23 over Los Altos.

Jon Peck scored 18 points in each of the first two games, giving him the three-game team scoring leadership with 46 points. He has connected on 14 of 27 shot attempts, according to M-A statistics.

Lee, although scoring only six field goals, has scored 38 points for the season. He's dumped 26 of 34 free throw attempts for a .765 percentage.

Roger Simrin, ace center and tallest man on the starting club, was lost after the first game because of scholastic ineligibility. He may return later in the season.

The Bruins have two more non-league games before jumping headfirst into their own holiday invitational tourney on Dec. 18-19-20. M-A was runner-up in the Christmas affair last year.

Mountain View	8	10	6	7	—31

Frankie Lee . . .
. . . After making second-team All-SPAL with the 20s last year, southpaw guard Frankie Lee has sparked the Menlo-Atherton 30s to three straight absketball wins this season. The playmaker has scored 38 points, 26 of them from the free throw line. —Recorder photo

County Gridders Picked

Menlo-Atherton's Roger Patterson, unanimously selected as All-SPAL tackle last week was named today to the second team of the first annual All-San Mateo County prep football squad.

Dave McDowell, honorable mention end in SPAL selections, was also named honorable mention on the All-County team.

The team was picked by a special committee of the Peninsula Sportswriters Association. Two complete teams and eight honorable mentions were named from the four leagues represented in San Mateo county.

Bob Ellis, star halfback at Menlo School, where he gained 616 yards in six games, also received honorable mention.

Sequoia High School dominated the first eleven, with four firsts. The SPAL had five first team members, five seconds and three honorable mentions. The PAL placed four or each of the teams and also had three honorable mentions.

MP Industrial Cagers in 2nd Round Tonight

Argonaut Insurance and Pacific Service Employees Association, two undefeated quintets in the Menlo Park Recreation Industrial basketball league, clash tonight at 9 p.m. in Menlo-Atherton's gym.

In other games tonight, Hewlett Packard (0-1) meets Varian Associates (0-1) in the 7 p.m. contest and Stanford Research Institute (0-1) plays at 8 p.m. against Litton Industries (1-0).

The six-team recreation league opened play last Thursday night at M-A, with Litton trimming Varian 39-27 in the first game. Tony Ramirez led Litton with 11 points, followed by C. Ryan with nine. Varian's top gunner was Gary Logan with seven.

Hewlett Packard, last year's league champion, dropped its first 1958 contest to PSEA, 34-27. Bill Raymond and Don Intersimone led the winners with 12 and 10 points, respectively. Argonaut Insurance built up a 25-10 third quarter lead over SRI in Thursday's 9 p.m. game and coasted through the final stanza to a 32-20 victory.

Trojans Lose to Sequoia, Face Cubberley

Ravenswood's cagers travel to Cubberley tomorrow for their fourth game of the season, with the jayvees still looking for their initial win.

The Trojan 30s will be shooting for their third in a row, after dumping Tennyson 31-20 and Sequoia 32-25.

In the Sequoia B game, a 11-point third period put Ravenswood on top, and they went ahead to outscore their opponents 8-3 in the final period to ice the contest.

Denny Kanazawa, elevated from this fall's C squad to the varsity, led scorers in the jayvee game with seven. Al Jackson tallied 13 in the B contest.

Woodside Cagers Meet Arroyo Today

Cat 30s in Winning Streak, Jayvees in 5-Game Tailspin

Woodside's Wildcat basketball teams put their one-way records on the line today at Arroyo, and chances are that both strings will stay intact.

Coach Bill Guttormson's 30s are favored to cop their fifth straight victory, while his Jayvee outfit is expected to lose its sixth straight.

The Cat Jayvees dropped number five Monday afternoon at Mills, 37-30, while the hustling Bs downed the hosts, 37-26.

In action Saturday, Carlmont dropped the Jayvees 45-27 but the 30s, playing only frosh-sophs against the Scot frosh-sophs, won 39-27.

Little relief seems in store for Guttormson's green Jayvees, as they lost a first string forward this week, Al Rollins. The stringbean sophomore who was number two quarterback on the football team this season, has transferred to Sequoia.

Replacing Rollins after his surprise departure is junior Art Miller. The 15-year-old Miller, also student body president at the hilltop school, broke into the starting lineup with five points against Mills.

High man for the Cats was sophomore center Dennis Brock with nine. He was also Woodside's leading rebounder. Freshman guard Dick Burke tallied eight.

The Cats led Mills 16-14 at halftime, but fell apart in the second half when Mills put on a full-court press.

In Monday's B contest, Dave Drotar and Dick Crawford combined their scoring talents for a 30-point output as their team won, 37-26. Drotar, sophomore guard, has now tallied 45 points in four games.

Crawford, a 5'8" sophomore forward with terrific spring and rebounding ability, was a starter on Guttormson's C team this fall. Since Woodside is not officially entered in SPAL play this season, it is allowed to use C players on the 30s squad.

The Mills victory, the fourth straight for the Cats, broke a perfect 4-0 streak the Millers had racked up. One of those wins was a close 37-36 win over Ravenswood's Trojans two weeks ago.

The Cats and Trojans, rivals from the word go, do not tangle until Jan. 9, when they'll meet in a night game at Menlo-Atherton's gym.

. . . Woodside's new gymnasium, originally scheduled for completion Jan. 16, is now expected finished by the first week of February. Work on the new structure was backtracked 20 days because of a lag in supply of heavy construction material. Work is coming along fine now, however, as the above activity shows. Woodside students will be able to take advantage of the physical education facilities during the second semester this year.

MP Boys Club Boosters Ask Incorporation

Papers for incorporation of a Boys' Club of Menlo Park were to be presented last night at a dinner meeting held at Ramor Oaks.

The new organization is making plans for a clubhouse to be built on grounds leased from the City of Menlo Park at the corner of Ivy and Market streets. Plans for the building have been prepared and committments given for landscaping and construction, according to Stan Brown of Youth Haven.

Civic leaders invited to last nights' dinner included Mrs. Carolyn DuPree, Brown, S. H. Bell, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Richert, Mrs. F. B. Duveneck, Mrs. Mary Stern, Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Bray, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas O'Grady, L. C. Smith, Menlo Park City Councilmen Guy Plaisted and Ira Bonde, Dr. Andrew White, Mrs. Frances West, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Becks, Menlo Park Police Chief George Potter, and Mrs. Althea Campbell, secretary, and Leon Cook, president, of Youth Haven.

Ravenswood 15-Year-Old:

Mora Wins Two Trampoline Championships

With an eye to getting into national gymnastic competitions in the next few years, Mike Mora, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hank Mora, spends as much time as he can find bouncing up and down at the Ravenswood Recreation District gymnasium.

The local bouncer, more formerly known as trampoline gymnast, last week was named Northern California champion in the 1958 novice open, at Sacramento.

On Saturday, Dec. 6, Mike won his second trophy is as many weeks by capturing first place in the statewide invitational sponsored by the YMCA in Berkeley. He was entered in the 15 to 18 year old class.

Mike started on the trampoline when four years of age, and continued for approximately one year, before discontinuing the sport temporarily. His renewal at the age of 8, has been continued regularly to the present time, and promises to continue for some time to come.

Bouncing on the canvas has the double purpose of "coordinating your body" and "making you a better diver," according to Mike. An ardent swimming enthusiast, he has studied with Olympic Champion Don Harper, and with Chuck Thompson and hopes, eventualy, to follow Harper into Olympic competitions.

The championship he won Nov. 30 in Sacramento was his first in general competitions. Three years ago he placed third in a contest held in San Francisco, and last year, fifth in San Jose.

At 4:30 p.m. Saturday:

Friends of Library to Hold 'Christmas Gift' Reception

Menlo Park Friends of the Library invite the public to a "Christmas Gift" musicale and reception, Saturday, Dec. 13, in the library lounge from 4:30 to 5:30 p.m.

Mrs. David Mari, harpist, of Menlo Park, will play Christmas music and refreshments will be served.

The library is being specially decorated for this first annual program. Two Christmas trees will be dressed by the Friends and members of the Menlo Park Garden Club.

Mrs. James Crooks will fill the fireplace with greenery from the gardens of Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Taylor and she will provide the arrangement for the refreshment table. Mrs. Parmelee Smith will loan an arrangement for above the fireplace and is preparing a corsage for Mrs. Mari.

Art by Menlo Park elementary school children is being shown in the main exhibit case. Mrs. Harold Hildreth, exhibit chairman, arranged for the display with Miss Irma Middup, art consultant for Menlo Park schools. Mrs. John J. Molenda arranged for the hanging of works by Winston Sparrow, local artist, which are in the lounge.

Punch, coffee and cookies will be served and Friends of the Library and other guests will be welcomed by Philip Morales, librarian; William Patton, Friends vice chairman; Mrs. O. E. Hopler, membership chairman; Mrs. Walter Matlock, historian, and Mrs. A. J. Krutmeyer and Mrs. S. Markoff.

The "Christmas Gift" program is being planned by Mrs. Joseph A. Scaroni Jr., Friends chairman, and Mrs. William Gropp, book review chairman.

There will be no book review meeting this month and the public is invited to attend the Jan. 22 meeting when Mrs. Ross Wilson will review the Nobel prize-winner, "Dr. Zhivago," by Soviet author Boris Pasternak. The review will begin at 10:30 a.m., following the customary morning coffee at 10:05.

Costano Cub Advancements

The program was opened by the flag salute led by Robert LaDue. Den 5 gave a detailed report on the recent pack outing to the United Air Lines maintenance base in South San Francisco. Skit on the First Thanksgiving was given by Den 3.

Don't Do It . . .

. . . Mary Steinmetz looks on excitedly as one of her boarders, Jeep Jones, lifts a glass of deadly elderberry wine to his lips. Tom Hunt gestures wildly in an attempt to save the man's life. They're all Menlo-Atherton students, and rehearsing a scene from their senior play, Arsenic and Old Lace."

This Friday and Saturday:

Menlo-Atherton Seniors in 'Arsenic and Old Lace'

By SUE ROBERTS

The senior class of Menlo-Atherton High School will present its interpretation of the comedy, "Arsenic and Old Lace," at 8:30 p.m. on Friday, Dec. 12, and Saturday, Dec. 13, in the multi-purpose building on campus. The class will be raising money for the Senior Ball.

The play tells of the daily lives and accomplishments of the two elderly Brewster ladies, Aunt Abby and Aunt Martha, as portrayed by Kathy Denton and Mary Steinmetz. The ladies use elderberry wine to dispose of their "star" boarders. Marshall Leicester as Teddy Brewster, assists by burying the bodies in the basement.

Todd Woodcock as Jonathan Brewster, upsets the ladies' equanimity when he appears with his sidekick, Luis Osorio, as Dr. Einstein. Suzanne Horney and Tom Hunt give depth to the romantic pair, Elaine Harper and Mortimer Brewster. Blake Franklin, Doug MacKay, Eric Peterson, Dave Linebarger, Dick Waldo, Kip Garabedian, and Jeep Jones also stage their appearances. The entire production is under the direction of Mr. Karcher, and his student assistant, Carol Ferrarini.

Behind the footlights, the committees are really sparking, headed by business manager Neil Cooperrider. The committees are:

Lighting and sound, George Pegelow, David d eKadt, Gerry Varty and Roger Burpee; costumes, Linda Willis, Cindi Richie, Darlene Roman, Wendi Drescher, Betty Cotton, Barbara Levin and Alice Partanen; sets, Jill Harker, Blake Franklin, Tom Hunt, Lynn Baker, Don and Ron Sumner, Ginny Wanzer, Bob Macri, Don Yaggy, Carol Ackerman, Carol Albin, Pat Donnelly, Darlene Moore and Marie Christiansen; publicity, Joan Weber, Ann Thomas, Carolyn Ruddell, Marianna Poynor, Sue Roberts and Nina Miller.

Refreshments and clean-up, Mark Healy, Phil Carr, Lynn Larson, Charles Aparicio and Bruce Forsythe; make-up, Jeanne Myers, Sally Demma, Marilyn Pryor, Eleanor River, Judy Rowson, Karen Schmidt, Jean Scheuddig, Toni Thunen, Joyce Young, Marlene Allen, Ann Bouskos, Una Kay Lea, Cathy Haried and Ann Hassbaum.

The California Gardener:

'Flat' Look Is Out in Paris, But In Vogue With Gardeners

The flat look may be on its way out in Paris, but it will always be in vogue with gardeners.

Even in spacious gardens, the flat, espaliered plants have their places. And in small gardens they are a plain necessity.

An espalier, to be sure, is not easy for the amateur to achieve. It takes time and patience to come up with just the shape and effect you want. But practically all nurserymen in the California Association of Nurserymen offer several different plants already trained and ready for your garden. Most of these are in five-gallon cans. A few are available in gallons.

You'll find that espaliered plants bear a somewhat higher price tag than their untrained counterparts, which is understandable. You are paying for many months—often years—of effort that went into making a perfect plant.

Plants often found as full grown espaliers in nurseries include:

Firethorn or Pyracantha, which is especially attractive—ot only for its vivid berries in fall, but for its lacy white flowers in spring;

Citrus in several varieties. Not only does citrus make an attractive flat planting, but the wall against whiche it is planted often traps heat and ripens fruit in areas where it normally does not mature;

Dwarf fruit other than citrus — especially apples and pears.

Is a green thumb something you're born with? The question was put to a California nurseryman recently and the answer was an explosive "NO." Chances are, he replied, that the gardener with the greenest thumb also has the strongest back.

Not that there aren't definite tricks of the trade, which when learned, will enable one person to cultivate the same plot of ground with more success than another. But basically, the secret of success lies in the willingness to do a thorough job.

When polled, several other members of the California Association of Nurserymen had precisely the same answer. And without exception, all felt that the effort which went into maintaining the soil paid off higher dividends than any other single thing the gardener could do.

"You can't grow a plant in cement," was the way one nurserymen put it. "And thats' just what half the gardeners in the state try to do."

Except in the fertile valley bottomland, most Californians garden in adobe-like soil that compacts easily and resists all efforts at water penetration. It's an unhappy, but far from hopeless plight.

With the advent in recent years of commercial soil conditioners, even the meanest soil can be improved. The conditioners hold the soil in the state you want it, and even rain fails to compact it .

The only hitch: You can't just add the conditioner and hope it does the job for you. You have to work the soil into the proper condition and then add the conditioner.

These efforts with the spade pay off handsomely. Water is easily made available to plant roots; nutrients naturally in the soil are freed to be absorbed by the plants, and food you add later does many times the good it did before your soil was conditioned.

The result is a lusher garden, a great deal more satisfaction and the inevitable suggestion of a friend that you were born with a "green thumb."

Former M-A Students in Pomona Play

Two former Menlo-Atherton high schoolers, Joseph "Buck" Adams and Sandi Hirschboeck, are working with a forthcoming Pomona College drama production, "The Lesson" and "The Marriage."

Adams, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Alston Adams of 1140 Hobart, Menlo Park, is stage manager and on the construction committee for the plays. He is a senior English Literature major at Pomona.

Sandi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Hirschboeck of 335 Trenton way, Menlo Park, is production manager for the presentations. She, too, is a senior English Literature major.

The play will open Dec. 11 for a three-night run, with an additional matinee presentation Saturday, Dec. 13.

SRI Exhibits Mother-and Child Pieces

Thirteenth-17th Century Madonna-and-Child pieces, collected by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Lee of San Mateo, will be on exhibition at the Stanford Research Institute in Menlo Park for the month of December.

During a trip to Europe in 1929, the Lees bought a Talavera ceramic Madonna piece in Spain. Following this purchase they further pursued the Madonna-and-Child antique objects and in the past 30 years have collected well over 100 examples of museum quality.

They have contributed to the Crocker Art Gallery in Sacramento, the Stanford University Art Museum, the M. H. De Young Museum and the Palace of the Legion of Honor in San Francisco.

From their personal collection, Mr. and Mrs. Lee have loaned a 13th Century Byzantine piece and two ivory sculptures—a 14th Century French and a 16th Century Spanish to the SRI exhibit.

Woodside Student:

Carol Hays New Queen

CAROL HAYS

Carol Hays, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin S. Hays Jr., of 1151 Orange avenue, Menlo Park, will be seated as Honored Queen of Palo Alto Bethel 234, Jobs Daughters, on Saturday, Dec. 13. She is a junior at Woodside High School.

Installation will follow the theme, the "Cross and the Crown," and will be held in the Palo Alto Masonic Temple, starting at 8 p.m. A reception and dance in the banquet room will follow.

Red roses symbolizing the Cross of duty—the Crown of reward, will decorate the bethel room. Miss Caroline Berggren will be soloist.

With Carol, the following elective officers will also be installed: Senior Princess, Dianne Long; Junior Princess, Jeanette Hays, sister of the Honored Queen; Guide, Merilyn Huffman, and Marshal, Carol Bishop.

Appointive officers are: Treasurer, Sherrie Mathis; Recorder, Joyce Pigg; Chaplain, Clarice Schuhmann; Musician, Carolyn Brown; Librarian, Donna Sanders; Senior Custodian, Elaine Alba; Junior Custodian, Gale Gray; Inner Guard Judy Bohn; Outer Guard, Cindy Rhodehouse, and Messengers, Sue Beicher, Pam Brown, Judy Goodnow, Alene Nicol, and Patty Catuzzo.

The officers will be supported by a choir composed of the following girls, who will be installed at the ceremony: Kathy Long, chairman, Sharie Waldridge, Barbara Thompson, Carol Baylor, Linda Baylor, Penny Gray, Kay Keenan, Sharon Kopp, Marsha Nygaard, Vicki Stoner, Joan Goodnow, Carolyn Moehlenbrock, Sandy Bush, Beverly Rhodehouse and Linda Govorko.

The installation ceremonies will be conducted by Stephanie Zubke, retiring Honored Queen, and the following corps of officers, all of whom are past Honored Queens: Hostess, Mrs. Pat Mathis; Installing Guide, Karen Hansen; Installing Marshal, Virginia Ward; Installing Recorder, Jeanne Hansen; Installing Chaplain, Brenda Reich; Installing Senior Custodian, Brenda Biggs; Installing Junior Custodian, Norine Dodge; Installing Musician, Nancy Northway.

The Bethel is supervised by Mr. and Mrs. Verner Hansen of Palo Alto, who are the guardian and associate guardian, and meets regularly on the second and fourth Saturdays of each month

Concert Set For Patients

Residents of the Whitcomb Home in Menlo Park will be entertained next Monday, December 15, by the eight-string instrument section of the Jordan Junior High School under the direction of Caesar Claudio. The program is slated for 2 to 3:30 p.m.

The Welcome Wagon club is sponsoring the Christmas concert as part of the recreational activity program for the residents. The Home has been "adopted" by the club members, who make visits, play cards with the patients, and help in celebrating the birthdays of those in the rest home. Recently, the club was instrumental in obtaining a piano for the home, to aid the entertainment facilities.

Students participating in the Christmas program include Ruth Gunn, Penny Kossoris, Virginia Smedberg and Joe Eding, violinists; Nancy Donnelly and Nick Robinson, violists, and Jeannie MacKennan and Ginger Cranch, cellists.

Mrs. George Collins is chairman of the club project. Among the new members of the group planning to aid with the program are Mrs. George Shank and Mrs. Evelyn Riley, both of Menlo Park.

Any woman interested in becoming a member of the Welcome Wagon Club may obtain information from the president, Mrs. Gerald Lokke

Yuletide Dinner Dance . . .

. . . plans are being formulated by the Menertons. The affair will be held at the Los Altos Country Club on Friday, December 19, and among those assisting with arrangements are (left to right) Mrs. Martin Wilber, Mrs. Philip Grotewohl, Mrs. Alfred Bothell and Mrs. Richard DeZur. A color scheme of silver and cerise will pervade the clubhouse interior, and Christmas trees and snowball mobiles will be added decoration features. A cocktail hour will precede the dinner, and dancing will continue throughout the evening.

Menerton Dinner Dance Set For Country Club

A jovial snowman will greet the members and guests arriving at the Los Altos Country Club next Friday evening, December 19, when the Menertons stage their Christmas dinner dance.

On hand to greet those attending will be Mr. and Mrs. James Collins, chairmen of the affair, and Mr. and Mrs. Richard DeZur, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carpenter, and Mr. and Mrs. Philip Grotewohl. The Menertons are comprised of Menlo Park and Atherton residents who have been members of the Menlo-Atherton Newcomer's Club for the two-year period.

A silver and cerise contemporary motif will decorate the clubhouse. White flocked Christmas trees will be the center of attraction in each room and snowball mobiles will add to the winter scene.

Cocktails will be served from 7 to 8 p.m. and will be followed by dinner and dancing. Walt Tolleson and his orchestra will provide dance music throughout the evening.

Among those planning to attend are Mr. and Mrs. Donald Anderson, Dr. and Mrs. Calvin Pattee, Mr. and Mrs. Tracy Gilbert, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Llewellyn, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Von Ladau, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Eldridge, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Hazard, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Nadell and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Prausa.

Also expected to join the festivities are Mr. and Mrs. Don Polcar, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rockwell, Mr. and Mrs. James Collins, Dr. and Mrs. Alfred Bothell, Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth Romanoff and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Morrall.

Neighbors on Ward way in Woodside making plans for the affair include Mr. and Mrs. Claude Joy, Mr. and Mrs. John Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carpenter, Mr. and Mrs. Al DeFranco, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Selstead and Dr. and Mrs. Victor Sborov.

Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Nicolai will entertain their guests, Mr. and Mrs. D. Romeo, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sellman, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Barnes and Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Morton are also planning to attend.

Dr. and Mrs. Marlin Wilbur will be accompanied by Dr. and Mrs. James O'Donoghue and Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Jones.

Tickets for the affair may be obtained by calling Mrs. Alfred Bothell, DA 5-0556, before Monday, December 15. Reservations may also be made with Mrs. Bothell.

Benefits Children's Health Council:

Annual Jewel Tree Party To Be Held in Atherton

A seven-foot white flocked Christmas tree will set the stage for the annual Jewel Tree party of the Charter Auxiliary of the Children's Health Council, which is slated for Sunday, December 14. The affair will be held this year at the Atherton home of Mrs. James Rafferty and is timed for 5 p.m.

Costume jewelry of those attending the event will decorate the tree, and at 6:30 p.m. the brilliantly decorated center of attraction will be put up for auction. Jack Herrick will be the acting auctioneer during the evening. The jewelry decorating the tree will be donated to the Bargain Box, a community project of the Auxilary, and the proceeds will benefit the nursery school for Retarded Children at the Health Council.

General chairman of the party is Mrs. Milton Iverson. Among the committee chairmen asissting her are Mrs. C. J. Marley, auction arrangements; Mrs. James Rafferty, decorations; Mrs. B. Lewis, refreshments; Mrs. David Freidenrich, publicity, and Mrs. Harry Perrin, Mrs. Edward Tunis, Mrs. Willard Johnston, Mrs. Ralph Cahn and Mrs. Jack Snead.

Included as guests for the annual event will be the members of the newly organized Esther B. Clark Auxiliary to the council, and their husbands. The staff members, sponsors and members of the board of the Children's Health Council will also be special guests.

Making Preparations . . .

. . . for the annual Jewel Tree party of the Charter Auxiliary of the Children's Health Council are (left to right) Mrs. James Rafferty, Mrs. Milton Iverson and Mrs. Robert Lewis. The party will be held on Sunday at the Rafferty home in Atherton at 5 p.m. The affair is titled from the center of attraction at the event, a large white flocked tree decorated with costume jewelry donated by members and their guests attending. The jewelry is then sold at the Bargain Box with proceeds benefitting the Council.

Phi Mu Fetes Pledges

More than 25 pledges of Phi Mu national fraternity will be entertained at a party in their honor this evening at the home of Mrs. C. R. Lindquist, 857 Laverne way, Los Altos.

Among the honored guests at the affair will be Norma Griffin of Menlo Park. She is a recent pledge of Eta Theta chapter of the women's organization at San Jose State College.

Hostessing the event will be members of the Palo Alto, San Francisco and Southern Alameda alumnae chapters.

A program and entertainment are scheduled during the evening for collegiates and alumnae. All Phi Mu alumnae in the area are invited to attend and may make reservations by calling Mrs. J. F. Lynch, DA 4-1250.

Senior Alumnae Set Tea

A tea will be held at the Allied Arts Guild in Menlo Park next Monday, December 15, by the senior alumnae of Gamma Phi Beta. Members will gather at 3 p.m. for the Christmas season event.

More than 40 members of the group, which includes many from the Menlo Park and Atherton area, will be guests at the annual affair.

Entertaining during the afternoon will be the Castilleja School girls' chorus, presenting a program of traditional Christmas songs.

Reservations for the tea may be made with Mrs. N. K. Pohlman of Atherton, chairman of the event. Mrs. Charles E. Hemphill of Menlo Park is president of the organization.

Job Opportunities Studied By AAUW

A survey of job opportunities for women over 40, with emphasis on the South San Mateo County area is the project chosen for the year by the Menlo-Atherton branch of American Association of University Women.

The project will be the subject of discussion at their meeting tomorrow morning when the Social Studies section of the women's organization gathers at the home of Mrs. Clyde Walker, 156 Heather drive in Atherton. The meeting has been scheduled for 9:30 a.m.

Mrs. Alvin Meyer, president of Menlo-Atherton branch, remarked, "There is a great reservoir of ability in this age group, and we feel there must be employers who have a place for women over 40 in their businesses. So far as we know, there has been no attempt to get the two potentials together, so we believe that this is an opportunity to perform a community service."

The survey will be undertaken by volunteers working individually, who will contact a sampling of employers, heads of departments, and personnel directors. Guided by a questionnaire covering such questions as types of jobs available, qualifications needed, part time versus full time employment, the volunteers will then channel their information to a committee for compilation and evaluation.

The success of the project hinges on signing up enough volunteers to conduct an adequate survey, according to Mrs. S. A. Megeath, chairman.

Anyone interested in serving the group is invited to attend the meeting. For additional information call Mrs. Megeath, DA 4-1741.

Membership Party in Los Altos:

Local Tri Delt Alumnae Schedule Plans For Annual Christmas Event

Christmas Music . . .

. . . will be a feature of the annual Christmas party for members of the Palo Alto alumnae chapter of Delta Delta Delta and their husbands. Among those on the executive committee making plans for the affair are (left to right) Mrs. Malcolm McWhorter, Mrs. Robert J. Neal, Mrs. Kenneth W. Palmer, and Mrs. Charles Schumacher. They will assist the president of the chapter, Mrs. Neil Houston, of Menlo Park. The event will be held at the home of Mrs. R. E. McCann tomorrow evening.

The executive committee of the Palo Alto alumnae chapter of Delta Delta Delta has set the annual Christmas cocktail party of the group for tomorrow evening. Mrs. R. E. McCann will hostess the gathering at her home in Los Altos Hills at 8:30 p.m.

Members and their husbands will be greeted by the committee members which include Mrs. Malcolm McWhorter, Mrs. Robert J. Neal, Mrs. Kenneth W. Palmer, and Mrs. Charles Schumacher. Chairman of the event is Mrs. A. M. Stewart.

Decorating the McCann home for the party will be arrangements of pine boughs, ornaments and a decorated Christmas tree.

Among those planning to attend the affair from Menlo Park are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ham, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hjelm, Mr. and Mrs. C. Richards, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Rolin, Mr. and Mrs. John Wagner, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Wuesthoff and Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Daigle of Atherton. More than 40 couples are expected to attend the Yuletide party.

Also present will be Mr. and Mrs. Neil Houston of Menlo Park. Mrs. Houston is president of the local alumnae chapter.

Garden Club Sets Party

Members of the Menlo-Atherton Newcomers Club garden section will hold their Christmas party on Wednesday, December 17. Locale for the affair will be the home of Mrs. Jerry Brentnall, 670 La Mesa drive in Menlo Park.

Each member of the group will bring extra plants to the gathering for a plant sale, which is scheduled to take place during the afternoon.

Leaguers To Attend Musical

A large contingent of local residents are planning to attend the musical, "Sweet Executive" presented by the San Francisco Junior League, Inc., tonight, tomorrow and Saturday evening.

The play has been written by Richard Arnold of Palo Alto and is directed by Robert England. League members, their husbands and friends have been rehearsing for more than two months in preparation for opening night. Many San Francisco landmarks are featured in the story.

The event is being given at the Alcazar theater in "the City" and curtain time each evening is 8:30 p.m.

Attending the opening night performance this evening will be the Emmett Cashins, Scott McCanns and the Dudley Dexters.

Gathering for tomorrow's performance will be Mr. and Mrs. Daniel McGanney and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Madigan. After the final performance on Saturday evening there will be an informal cast party at the Sheraton-Palace Hotel. During the affair small skits and songs from the show will be re-anacted by the members of the cast.

Those planning to attend the last show and the cast party include Mr. and Mrs. James LaPlante, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Folger, Mr. and Mrs. William Curtiss Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Ross Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Ditz, Mr. and Mrs. John Donegan, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Pande, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Purnell, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Leps, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick McFarland, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Morningstar, Mr. and Mrs. George Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Knoop, Mr. and Mrs. Mack Jason, Mr. and Mrs. John Miller, Mr. and Mrs. William Roth, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Conlan, Mr. and Mrs. Revett Wallace and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Sayre.

M-A Junior Women Make Plans For Childrens' Party at Meeting

The Menlo-Atherton Junior Womens' Club will have their Christmas meeting and gift exchange this evening at 8 p.m., at the home of Mrs. Hubert Albachten, 1260 Cotton street, Menlo Park. She will be assisted by Mrs. Clark Keenan, Mrs. Rolland Huffman, Mrs. David Wilder and Mrs. Philip von Ladau.

The business meeting will include a report on education given by Mrs. J. Thomas Llewellyn and a report on the final plans for the Christmts party the juniors are giving the children at the San Mateo County Receiving Home on Saturday, December 13. Mrs. Leonard Williamson is in charge of the arrangements and will be assisted by Mrs. Roland Huffman, Mrs. George Perkins and Mrs. Clark Keenan.

Sprouse Reitz in Menlo Park has donated many of the toys which are given to the children celebrating birthdays at the monthly parties given by the juniors. Some of the toys being presented to the home for Christmas are a doll house and furniture, train and track, large dump truck and numerous wind-up toys.

Candy-filled Santa Clauses and Christmas candles will be given each child as well as other small gifts and Christmas refreshments.

CREATIVE WRITING group of AAUW will meet in December. Members are asked to contact Mrs. Clyde Walker, DA 2-9627, for time and place.

Four Performances Set By Puppet Group

Four performances have been scheduled for this month by the Palo Alto Puppets, a community project of the Palo Alto Unit of the Junior League of San Francisco, Inc.

Two of the showings were given last week, the first on December 6 at the Park school in San Mateo, and the second on December 9 at the Children's Home, also in San Mateo.

The next performance scheduled by the Puppet committee is for December 18. Palo Alto Junior League children will view the show at 3:30 p.m. at Rickey's Studio Inn.

The children of Unit members will be entertained the afternoon of December 20 at the Menlo Circus Club in Atherton.

In January, shows will be given at the Harker school, the Children's Receiving Home in San Mateo, the Child Care Center in Redwood City, and the Chandler Tripp Home in San Jose.

Costumes, scenery and heads of the puppets have all been made by the League members. They have also adapted stories for the various performances and the puppets themselves are handled by the Leaguers.

Mrs. Norman Hunter Jr. is chairman of the puppet committee. Among those assisting her are Mrs. Scott Lawson, Mrs. M. S. Bergeson, Mrs. Warren Morgan, Mrs. Stanley Mott-Smith, Mrs. William Halford Jr., Mrs. William Settle, Mrs. George Stewart, Mrs. Wesley Gardiner, Mrs. Harold Hodges and Mrs. Edward Eyre Jr.

ANTIQUE section of the Menlo-Atherton chapter of the AAUW will not meet during the month of December.

MR. AND MRS. Bridge sections of the Menertons will not meet during the month of December.

M-A Students Sing In Church Program

A program of Christmas music will be presented next Sunday evening at the Menlo Park Presbyterian Church. The presentation will be given by the A Cappella Choir, the Choraliers, a girls' sextet, and an octet, all comprised of Menlo-Atherton High School students. The event is set for 8 p.m. in the social hall of the church.

The groups will be directed by Douglas Stobie, music instructor at the high school. The groups will also conduct a short caroling tour on December 17, when they visit several Menlo Park business firms.

Ballet Guild Slates Annual 'Nutcracker Suite' Production

The Christmas season will again be highlighted this year with the presentation of Tschaikowsky's "Nutcracker Suite" by members of the San Francisco Ballet Company, under the auspices of the Peninsula branch of the San Francisco Ballet Guild, and Orchesis of Stanford University.

The Christmas eve story will be staged at the Stanford Memorial Auditorium on December 23 at 2:45 p.m. Those in charge of the arrangements for the presentation include Mrs. Howard Ruweler, Mrs. Reginald Kearton, Mrs. Raymond Harroun, Mrs. Marty Brill and Mrs. Robert Jamplis.

The fantasy is divided into four scenes, the final scene taking place in Candy Kingdom, in which some of Tschaikowsky's most renowned works are heard, including "The Waltz of the Flowers," "The Dance of the Sugar Plum Fairy," "The Arabian Dance" and the "Chinese Dance."

Sally Bailey and Nancy Johnson, stars of the San Francisco Ballet, will appear in principal roles. Other leading roles will be danced by Conrad Ludlow and Gordon Paxman.

Choreographer for the production is Lew Christensen and costumes are designed by Leonard Wiseman. More than 100 performers will be presented in the production as well as the symphony orchestra.

Ballet Performer . . .
Fiona Fuerstner will be one of the dancers participating in the "Nutcracker Suite" presentation of the San Francisco Ballet Company. The performance is scheduled each year during the Christmas season by the San Francisco Ballet Guild and Orchesis of Stanford University. The event will be held at the Stanford Memorial Auditorium Theater on December 23 at 2:45 p.m. Tickets are now on sale at the theater box offcie.

Season Sing Tonight at Willow School

The annual Christmas Sing of Willow elementary school will be held this evening at 7:30 p.m. in the multi-purpose room of the school.

The program will feature the girls' chorus singing Christmas songs traditional to the countries of the world. Mrs. Dwight Newell, fourth grade teacher is directing the group and is being assisted by Mrs. Fredone Neilsen. Mrs. Neilsen is music consultant for the Ravenswood Elementary School District.

Students in the fourth grade are making decorations depicting a cathedral setting. They are being supervised by Mrs. Bowman, teacher of their fourth grade class.

Localites Take Part In Christmas Events

By PROXY

The annual Christmas fur show of the Palo Alto Auxiliary to the Stanford Convalescent Home was held recently at the Allied Arts Guild. The lunchroom of the Menlo Park landmark was decorated in a festive Mexican Christmas decor featuring pinatas, paper mache garlands of fruit and vegetables, poinsetta, and tin tree centerpieces. A large stained glass window at one end of the lunchroom and a nativity scene were the other highlights of the decor.

Modeling during the first showing were Mrs. E. L. Van Dellen, Mrs. Dale H. Hutchison, Mrs. Edward Ames, Mrs. Myron A. Kirsch and Mrs. Thomas Young.

Mrs. Ralph J. Calcaterra, Mrs. D. Edmund Knight, Mrs. Robert C. Seaman, Mrs. Reginald Rumwell and Mrs. John J. Cowan were the mannequins for the second showing.

Wassail Tea, Music Program Set By Church Guild Members

A Wassail Tea . . .

. . . and a program of inspirational Christmas music has been scheduled by members of the Addie Tripp Guild of the Woodside Village Church tomorrow afternoon. Mrs. Carl Stendell, left, and Mrs. J. Hood Snavely, right, are among those aiding with preparations for the affair. The tea will be held at the Francis H. Crosby estate in Woodside at 2 p.m. and the public has been invited to attend. A choral group, under the direction of Howard Albertsen, will present traditional Christmas songs and hymns during the afternoon.

A program of inspirational Christmas music, open to the public, will be presented tomorrow afternoon by the Addie Tripp Guild of the Woodside Village Church. The presentation will take place at the Francis H. Crosby estate, 330 Harcross road, Woodside, from 2 to 4 p.m.

A Wassail tea, a traditional festivity of England, will be served during the afternoon, and the music presented will be under the direction of Howard Albertsen, choirmaster of the Woodside Village Church.

The choral group taking part in the afternoon musicale are professional singers of the local area, and along with traditional carols, they will render excerpts from the "Ceremony of the Carols" by Benjamin Britton. Accompanying the choral group will be Marjorie Trammel, harpist.

The four functional guilds of the church are combining their efforts in preparations for the afternoon affair. The Altar Guild is in charge of decorations. Chairman of the group is Mrs. Samuel Fitzpatrick. She is being assisted by Mrs. Wells Pelas and Fern Hunt.

Making arrangements for door prizes are members of the Garden Guild, under the direction of Mrs. Robert Mullen.

Committee members of the Addie Tripp Guild, sponsors for the event, include Mrs. Willard Ambrose, hospitality; Mrs. Carl Stendell, tickets; Mrs. J. Hood Snavely, program, and Mrs. Robert Buelteman, publicity.

Proceeds from the musicale and tea will be used to purchase candelabra for the sanctuary of the church.

Tickets for the affair may be obtained by calling Mrs. Stendell, UL 1-7641, or the church office, UL 1-7229. They will also be available at the door.

Anniversary Tea Held For Robert Neals

A tea was held last Saturday in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Neal of Atherton at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Neal of Menlo Park.

Occasion for the event was to celebrate the golden wedding anniversary of the senior Neals, who were married on September 21, 1908. The honored couple were visiting in the East on their actual anniversary date, so party plans were postponed until this month.

Among the guests attending the affair to congratulate the Atherton pair were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dostal of Atherton, Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Broderson, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Earl Fuller and Margaret Dean of Menlo Park, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Middlecauff of Atherton.

Mr. and Mrs. Neal have been residents of Atherton since 1947, having moved here from Pittsburgh, Pa., where they had made their home for more than 35 years. At the time of their marriage in 1903, they both resided in Haverhill, Mass., the scene of their wedding.

The Neal family transferred to the local area when Mr. Neal became vice president of sales and general manager of West coast operations for Westinghouse. He retired in 1954.

Other than the host, Robert J. Neal, Mr. and Mrs. Neal are the parents of Dr. Roland A. Neal of Pittsburgh, Pa., and Commander Albert J. Neal of Washington, D.C.

Winter Theme For Woodside High Dance

Woodside High School will hold its first Christmas Dance tomorrow night. Theme for the affair will be "Winter Wonderland," and decorations for the event will depict a winter scene.

Named as committee chairmen for the school dance are Sue Hursey and Gary Levering, tickets; Betty Hoehe, refreshments; decorations and bids, Harriet Wiens. They will be directed by Marilyn Loushia, commissioner of social activities for the student body.

Carol Callaway is handling publicity for the affair, and has announced that admission will be by student body card plus an admission charge.

Danford Umburger, instructor in the school art department, will assist with the decorations and Macca Wimburg is advisor for the affair.

Charm Class To Start At Rec Office

The newest addition to the Ravenswood Recreation and Park District's winter program for high school girls is a charm course which will include instruction and advice in hair styling and makeup, fashion, modeling techniques and social etiquette.

To be taught by a popular and competent instructor, the class will meet two hours a week for five weeks. Fee for the entire five weeks will be $3.50. Registration is limited to 18 to 20 girls.

Two Parties Slated For Local Sorority

Two holiday parties are being planned by Pi Omicron, Menlo-Atherton chapter of Beta Sigma Phi. First on the agenda is a progressive dinner for members and their husbands or escorts to be held on Saturday, December 13, at 6 p.m.

Cocktails will be served at the Harold Bohle home in Menlo Park. Assisting Mrs. Bohle with plans for the party is Mrs. Andrew Nickerson.

Dinner will then be served at 7:30 p.m. at the Atherton home of Inez Vasquez, and assisting her will be Mrs. Robert Wendlandt. Mrs. Perry Knox, Mrs. Donald Miller, Marian Porter, Mary Ellen Cary and Mrs. John Varnell.

Those attending will then go to the Robert Klett home in Menlo Park for dessert and coffee. Mrs. Donald Oliver will assist Mrs. Klett with arrangements. Mrs. Lester Jordan will aid Mrs. Carl Helfenberger with final plans for the evening, an hour of entertainment at the Helfenberger home

In place of their regular meeting on Monday, December 22, a Christmas party for members only will be held at the home of Mrs. Harold Erickson in Atherton.

DAR Chapter Slates Party Tomorrow

The Redwood City home of Mrs. Richard Audsley, 146 Atherwood, will provide the locale for the annual Christmas party of Cachinetac chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution tomorrow afternoon.

Assisting the hostess with preparations for the party and general membership meeting will be Mrs. Harry E. Keller and Mrs. W. E. Crawford.

Dessert will be served during the party and a short business meeting will be conducted by Mrs. Bernard E. Cherney, regent of the southern San Mateo County chapter.

A gift exchange is also on the agenda as part of the afternoon program.

Pilots' Wives Mark Annual Dinner Dance

The Los Altos Country Club will be the setting for the annual Christmas season dinner dance for members of the Cockpit Wives of United Air Lines. The event has been set for December 16 with a cocktail hour slated to begin at 7:30 p.m. and dinner at 8:30 p.m.

Those attending will dance to the music of Bob Berry and his orchestra throughout the evening and a program of entertainment is also on the agenda.

Local women listed among the members of the wives' club include Mrs. C. R. Barnes of Menlo Park, Mrs. D. S. Bisson and Mrs. S. H. Davidson of Atherton, Mrs. D. H. Ellis of Menlo Park, Mrs. F. E. Graves of Atherton, Mrs. H. G. Harper of Menlo Park, Mrs. J. W. Haws of Woodside and Mrs. V. L. Hodgson of Menlo Park.

Shopping in Menlo

with MERRIE PARKER

"Baubles, bangles and beads" may be the title of a song, but it also describes the many items available to you at MENLO FLORIST for making your own Christmas decorations. Lovely table centerpieces and interior decorations may be made from the galaxy of small and large ornaments in a spectrum of glimmering colors, unique sprays, symmetrical pine cones and the host of additional make-up articles. Your centerpiece will never be duplicated for its unusual design will be your own inspiration and will display your creative ability. You'll find this will be a gratifying hobby and will provide you with hours of pleasure.

Those with less leisure time on their hands, will also find many beautiful decorations already made up for use in the home. These lovely appointments may be selected from a tremendous number of unusual designs and also come in a wide selection of sizes and shapes. Priced from $3.50 up they are keyed to fit the smallest budget.

Candles always lend a special glow to the holiday season, and now being featured at Menlo Florist are many lovely candles in all sizes, from short and thick to tall and thin, and in a variety of appropriate shapes. They are now being offered at 10 per cent off the original price in a special sale for the Christmas season.

For the unusual, ask for the tiny, tiny candles that "swim" in a bowl filled with salad oil. Children will love these, for they float and move in a kaleidoscope of patterns as they burn. A box of more than 50 with three "swimmers" sells for a small $1.25.

Decorate your tree with the saucy, and amazingly "real" birds, which have been termed "people watchers." The branches will suddenly come alive when these beauties grace their needles. They come in many colors and are made with real feathers. A product of Japan, they sell for only $1.25 each.

To make her Christmas a truly Merry one why not give her something for the house? For the greatest of all values, shop now at McCOY'S FURNITURE. From now until Christmas they are giving a 10 per cent reduction on every item in the store. Whatever her taste, colonial, traditional, modern, or provincial, you'll be certain to find a beautifully-styled item perfectly suited to please her.

If she has expressed a desire for a new cocktail or coffee table, choose now from the large selection at this Menlo Park store. One handsome cocktail table is styled to fit any decor. Designed in the warm, rich patina of cherry wood, this one drawer table is enhanced with tasteful brass drawer pulls. This lovely piece will suit either the modern home or the traditional one. It sells at a low $59.95.

If you prefer having matching end tables, the same design can be found in the beautiful cherry step end tables. These too, have one drawer and sell for a small $59.95 each.

For the modern home, there is a beautiful, Danish styled coffee table also in cherry, by Woodard. Designed in the newest shape, the "surf board," this lovely living room appointment is unique in appearance. It sells for only $39.95.

Make this a musical Christmas for your children, for with the toy instruments now available at the MENLO TOY AND PARTY SHOP, they'll enjoy them all year round. You may also discover you have a few budding musicians in the family.

One "fun" instrument is the gaily decorated banjo, complete with nylon strings. Your children will love learning to play this, and we know, you'll want to learn, too. It sells for only $2.69.

An unusual item is the "Kathedral Chimes" by Kusan. A miniature organ such as found in cathedrals, this instrument has colored keys depicting the notes of the scale for easy sight reading. The little ones in the family will love this and it sells for only $4.98.

One of the most enjoyable items to be found anywhere, and one that will provide many hours of merriment for the whole family, is the wonderful "Monkey-Ola," a toy for all ages. Fashioned from the "hurdy gurdy" of yester-year, this toy by Mattel, is an all metal music box, which when the crank is turned, plays a tune, and the fanciful monkey tips his hat in return. What fun you'll all have with this Christmas morning. It sells for just $3.

Atherton Homes Provide Locale For Chapter Christmas Party

Cocktails and dinner were on last Sunday's calendar of social events for members of the Menlo-Atherton chapter of the Children's Home Society and their husbands. The Atherton home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Watkins was the scene of the annual Christmas cocktail party and the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Noel Eldred next door provided the dinner locale.

Both homes, contemporary in design, featured Christmas trees in the flood-lighted, adjoining patios, and the interiors of the homes were highlighted with decorative accents in keeping with the holiday season. A gilded magnolia leaf Christmas tree plaque designed by Mrs. Watkins was the focal point of interest in the Watkins foyer, and Mrs. Eldred chose a coral and green theme for her Yule decorations. Balloons in the coral shade and colorful packages graced the outdoor frosted green tree and indoor accents of coral balloons and pine boughs were the highlights of the dinner party.

Mrs. Edwin Randle, chairman of the Christmas party committee, and Mrs. Ralph Tudor, social chairman, planned the progressive party for the group. Assisting Mrs. Watkins during the cocktail hour were hostesses, Mrs. Renick Buckles, Mrs. Henry A. Knutzen, Mrs. Duane Spencer, Mrs. Donald Stuart and Mrs. Harry Vaughn.

Among those assisting Mrs. Eldred with dinner arrangements were Mrs. Emmett Cameron, Mrs. Willis Holtum, Mrs. Max Mertens, Mrs. Hunt Patterson, Mrs. Kenneth Rickey and Mrs. Joseph Wirth, all provisionals of the women's group.

The only departure from the Yuletide theme were the leis which were flown from the Islands by Mr. Holtum and presented to the provisionals of the chapter.

Other couples present at the annual party were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ackles, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Beach, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Christiansen, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Erving, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Horrow, Mr. and Mrs. W. Needham Lambert, Mr. and Mrs. Max Landphere, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nye and Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Taylor.

Also attending were Mr. and Mrs. Reese Stigler. Mrs. Stigler is an associate member

Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond L Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Isenberg and Mr. and Mrs. Alex Schillings of Portola Valley Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Coryell of Woodside, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Scheier, Col. and Mrs Jack Schuck, Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Sheffield, Mr. and Mrs Walter Baker of Atherton, Mr and Mrs. Richard Wright, Mr and Mrs. Iver Larson and Dr and Mrs. James Betts of Menlo Park.

Others planning to attend include Mr. and Mrs. Clark Glasson, Mrs. Lucille Hobson of Atherton, Mr. and Mrs. A. L Brodie and Mr. and Mrs. John Wilson.

Christmas Luncheon Set By Clubwomen

Members of the Christian Women's Club have scheduled their monthly meeting and Christmas luncheon for Monday, December 15, at Rickey's Studio Inn at 12:30 p.m. The affair will take place in the Stanford room at the restaurant.

During the afternoon, a demonstration of foods appropriate to holiday entertaining will be given by a representative of Langendorf United Bakeries Inc.

Also slated for the program will be renditions of Christmas songs. Guest speaker at the gathering will be Mrs. David Stuart.

Installation of new officers will be held during the afternoon. Mrs. Dwight O. Johnson of Woodside will officiate during the installation.

Among those to be presented as new officers will be Mrs. J Gwyn Moseley of Menlo Park. She will act as advisor for the group during the coming year.

Mrs. Robert Grunigan, also of Menlo Park, will handle publicity arrangements for the women's club.

All interested women in the area are invited to attend the luncheon.

Shannon, Budelli Engagement Told occasion at which Mr. and Mrs. John Oben Shannon of Menlo Park chose to announce the engagement of their daughter, Carolyn Edith, to Louis P. Budelli, also of Menlo Park.

Carolyn, one of eight children in the Shannon family, is a graduate of Menlo-Atherton High School and is currently employed at the Bank of America in Palo Alto.

She is the sister of George Jackson, John Russell, Kathleen Mary, Ann Elizabeth, Timothy Allen, Christine Mary and Teresa Clare Shannon. Mr. and Mrs. Otto Lentz of Menlo Park and Harry Shannon of San Francisco are her grandparents.

Lou is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Budelli, University drive residents. He is an alumnus of Sequoia High School and the San Francisco College of Mortuary Science.

His brother is Guido Budelli.

Carolyn and Lou have set their wedding date for April 4.

Brownies and Girl Scouts . . .

What's Doing Among Menlo's Teen-Agers

By BETH WYATT DA 5-8528

The Algonquins' Hi-Y held a dance on November 26 at the home of Phil Reilly. The guests included all Algonquins and dates. They were Roger Etienne, Linda Skaff, Roger Burpee, Bonnie Bryson, Lynn Larson, Suzanne Horney, Phil Reilly, Sally Thurman, Jim Cook, Betsy Kennedy, Doug Hancock, Carol Ackerman, Arden Jones, Sue Larson, Doug Catchings, Ann Rovere, Jeep Jones, Penny Sewell, Ernie Bouskos, Sue Fehring, Chuck Ott, Sally Tuttle, Bob Rheinhardt, Liz Dole, Chuck Robertson and Gayle Gowdy.

They danced to records until midnight—"and a little later." There was an over-abundance of cider and doughnuts but nobody seemed too unhappy about it.

November 26 was the date of Linda Gray's slumber party. Singing to the strum of guitars were Linda Gray, Judy Norcott, Judy Kline, Mary Hirshbeck, Nancy Catlin and Wendy Ford.

SUPPORT YOUR SRS

Be sure to come to the best senior play ever. The dates are December 12 and 13. It will be held in J building and will start precisely at 8:30 p.m.

There will be a radio given away at both performances and the tickets are only $1 per person. Oh, and the most important thing, the play itself is "Arsenic and Old Lace." It's about . . . well, you come and find out!

Friday, December 5, was the evening Judy Hayes had her open house for sophomore girls. They played records, ate and addressed Christmas cards. There were Judy Hayes, Judy Kline, Judy Norcott, Judy Grover, Jan Osborn, Dodie Van Loben Sels, Sally Thurman, Penny Sewell, Lynne Parker, Mary Hirshbeck, Barbara Blagen, Sue Larson, Linda Davis, Marilyn Mercer, Patty Harlan, Nancy Catlin, Betsy Kennedy, Gayle Graham, Muffy Schmitz, and Wendy Ford. During the course of the evening some fellows dropped in for doughnuts and coffee.

After the former party some people went to Wendy Ford's house where they danced, ate, listened to records and chatted. Dave Doerflinger, Linda Davis, Dave Wyman, Muffy Schmitz, Walker Williams, Nancy Catlin, Steve Horton, Judy Norcott, Jim Cook, Betsy Kennedy, Dan Richardson and Wendy Ford were the couples there.

'ALPINE HOLIDAY'

"Alpine Holiday" is the name of the Menlo-Atherton Christmas dance. It will be held on December 19 from 8:30 until 11:30 p.m. Dressy-dress, couples only, band and door prizes. The band is Johnny Vaughn The band is Johnny Vaughn and the door prize is a ski parka. Be sure to come! With chateaus and a ski-lodge-ish atmosphere, this is almost sure to be one of the best Social Board dances of this year.

This is all on the agenda for this week. See you next week and Happy Christmas Shopping!

Parents Set Joint Meet, Hear Panel

Parents of the Menlo-Atherton Nursery School and the Redwood City Play Center will hold a joint meeting Monday night, December 15, in room Q2 of Menlo-Atherton High School.

The program will consist of a panel discussion with Mrs. Jules Seitz, director of the nursery school, as moderator. The members of the panel will be Dr. Allen Olinger of the San Mateo Child Guidance Clinic, Mrs. Honor Adams, who is in charge of special services for the Palo Alto Board of Education, and Dr. Richard D. Cutter, a pediatrician at the Palo Alto Clinic.

The topic for the evening will be "Mental Health from Tots to Teens." The panel will welcome any questions to be used for discussion during the evening.

The public is invited to attend the meeting, which is scheduled by the Adult Education program of the high school. For further information call Mrs. Ralph Harvey, DA 6-9717, or Mrs. Mel Turner, DA 4-1306.

Troop Marks Anniversary

Intermediate Girl Scout Troop 392 of Willow School held a party for its second birthday on Nov. 25, in the recreation building of the new school. Tonilou Stepanek was invested at this meeting.

The girls made the cookies which were served in the refreshments.

Mrs. John Mongiello is the leader

EVENING BRIDGE section and the Chit-Chat and sewing sections of the Newcomers will not meet during December.

MASS MEDIA group of the AAUW will not have a meeting in December.
